CIVIC LEADERS OF WESTERN CANADA MEET HERE

French Aviators Complete Flight To Buenos Ayres

Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrix Land in Their Plane at Argentine Capital After Last Lap of the Journey From Pelotas, Brazil; Flight Made From Paris by Way of Senegal and Across South Atlantic

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 20.—Dieudonne Costes and Lieut. Joseph Lebrix arrived here in their aeroplane, the Nungesser-Coli, shortly after noon to-day, completing a flight of over 6,000 miles from Paris to Senegal, on the west coast of Africa, and across the South Atlantic to South America.

Costes and Lebrix took off from Rio de Janeiro yesterday, hoping to complete the journey to Buenos Ayres, but they were halted on the way by bad weather, being forced to land at Pelotas, Brazil. They had flown a distance of something more than 800 miles from Rio de Janeiro and had about 400 miles still before them.

CROWD DISAPPOINTED

Word that the French aviators had landed at Pelotas caused great disappointment to the waiting throngs here. From early afternoon El Palomar flying field was crowded with people awaiting the coming of the fliers. The French Ambassador, M. Picot, was there, as well as many Argentine officials.

President de Alvear remained in his office later than usual, as he wished to greet the intrepid airmen, who carried letters and presents to him and Madame de Alvear.

The letters and gifts were presented to-day.

TWO MEN HELD BY POLICE FREED IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—Careful investigation by the police of the recent movements of two men held as suspects in connection with local safecracking cases has satisfied the authorities the pair were not in or near Vancouver at the time of the robberies.

They have been given their freedom, but with the provise that they leave the city immediately. Otherwise they will be again arrested on vagrancy charges.

Way is Cleared For Liquidation

Vancouver, Oct. 20—Following the appointment in Winnipeg of the National Trust Company Limited as provisional liquidator of the Great West Permanent Loan Company, Mr. Justice Morrison in Supreme Court here has granted an injunction which enjoins the Great West Permanent Loan Company from dealing with its British Columbia assets.

The application was made on behalf of the provisional liquidator by Ghent Davis

Paralysis Outbreak Closes School Classes

Eureka, Cal., Oct. 20—All schools here were ordered closed for an indefinite period by action of the city board of health at a meeting last night. The Arcata board of health also ordered the schools in that city closed.

The action followed a flare-up of the infantile paralysis epidemic, which has claimed nine lives in this country.

EX-U.S. AGENT ON TRIAL IN BAHAMAS

C. H. Nesle Accused of Theft of Part of Cargo of Rum Craft

Nassau, Bahamas, Oct. 20.—The plea of C. H. (Pop) Nesle, former United States prohibition agent, charged here with theft from a boat in a case which Bahamans generally believe promises international ramifications, to-day was postponed till November 15. He was arraigned to-day before the Supreme Court. The case will await the arrival of the new chief justice, Sir Kenneth Beatty.

Nesle was arrested in connection with the alleged disappearance of part of the cargo of a rum boat captured by a United States coastguard patrol boat commanded by Boatswain Larry Christiansen, from the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., base.

VERY WARM IN CALIFORNIA

Anaheim, Cal., Oct. 20.—This year's high heat mark was equalled here yesterday when a government thermometer registered 102 degrees. The previous high mark was on July 18.

WORKS MORE AS HIS AGE INCREASES; WILLIAM MARCONI

MARCONI TELLS OF HIS RESEARCH WORK

Says Great Tasks Still Confront Those Developing Radio

Washington, Oct. 20.—Although more than a quarter of century has passed since he startled the world with his invention of wireless telegraphy, William Marconi still works with all the vigor and enthusiasm of younger days to improve methods of radio.

"Only the feeble-minded or the prematurely old stop and abandon their life's interest for the sake of idleness," said Senator Marconi, who is in Washington attending the International Radio Conference and who was interviewd to-day.

Signor Marconi explained that his initial discovery, when the first feeble signals were conveyed by wireless, constituted for him the starting point of a life devoted to perfecting his invention.

GREAT ACTIVITIES

"These last few years," he said, "have been for me a period of intense research activity scarcely ever equalled before, to perfect beam transmission by short waves.

"The tasks of the new system are limitless. There are such difficulties as 'fading,' which still considerably hampers directional communications, which must be overcome completely. I will not hesitate to continue giving all my energies to radio until it is as reliable as telegraph, with all the obvious advantages of wireless added to it."

PRINCE'S PEONIES WILL HAVE BED IN PARLIAMENT SQUARE

Parliament Square here, where the Princes of Wales has frequently officiated at public ceremonies, will be permanently associated with his visits to Victoria by a bed of beautiful peonies, the gift of His Royal Highness to the Province. The peonies arrived at Premier MacLean's office this morning and the Premier immediately sent them to the chief gardener to be planted in a special bed to be set apart for this purpose alone. The bed will be suitably marked to indicate the origin of its flowers. The Premier expressed delight at the friendly action of the Prince in thus commemorating his several trips here.

STORY OF WITNESS DECLARED UNTRUE

Ex-Coastguard Chief at Seattle Denies Rum Smugglers Protected

Forty Men on Trial at Hearing of Second Olmsted Case in Sound City

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—Capt. Frederick G. Dodge, retired United States coastguard commandant of the Northwestern district, denied emphatically to-day he had ever promised or could promise protection to liquor smuggling suspects. The denial was Capt. Dodge's answer to a Seattle dispatch in which Alfred M. Hubbard, a witness in a rum smuggling trial, said he had been promised by the former coastguard commander that the Federal boats would "lay off" certain smugglers' craft.

ORGANIZATION DESCRIBED

"There is absolutely not one word of truth in it," Capt. Dodge told the Associated Press. "In fact it couldn't have been under the orgnanization I built up when I was in command of the northern district.

"There were three section bases. Patrol boats were allotted to each base and patrol boat commanders were under the direct command of base commanders.

"During all my years in Seattle I never once issued an order to the commander of a patrol boat, so how could I carry out my promise to rum runners to give them protection without involving the entire organization?

WAVELENGTH ASKED

"Yes, I know Hubbard. We caught him twice. Early in 1926 after he had gone to work for the prohibition office he came to my office and asked me to give him the radio wavelength made by our patrol boats. I told him to get out of the office—that the wave length used by the patrol boats was not for publication.

"Then I went to Lyle, prohibition head, under whom Hubbard was working. I told Lyle that if he wanted the radio wave length I would give it to him, but not to a subordinate. Lyle said he did not want the information.

"All that Hubbard has to say in the trial about my promising him protection to Olmsted's boats is pure fabrication, and, as I have shown you, quite impossible."

CORROBORATION OFFERED

Seattle, Oct. 20.—Corroborative evidence to support the testimony of Alfred M. Hubbard, suspended Federal dry agent, but key witness in the trial of forty defendants in the "second Olmsted case," on trial in Federal court here, continued to-day.

Turkey Soon to Have No State Religion

Angora, Oct. 20.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, in the course of his eight-day speech before the National Assembly, declared the article in Turkey's organic charter setting up Islamism as the state religion of Turkey was a compromise with the old mentality and would disappear at the first opportunity.

He asserted the conspiracy against the Turkish nation, which had been conducted for a century, had met with a complete check at Lausanne, where the Turks, in signing a peace treaty with the Allies, had won a victory unprecedented in Ottoman history.

M'NEILL HAS JOINED BALDWIN CABINET

Financial Secretary to British Treasury Succeeds Viscount Cecil in Ministry

London, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press cable)—The appointment of Rt. Hon. Ronald J. McNeill, M.P., Financial Secretary to the Treasury, as successor to Viscount Cecil of Chelwood as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and a member of the Baldwin Cabinet, announced last night, had been anticipated, as the post of Financial Secretary to the Treasury is always regarded as a final step toward Cabinet rank. The Chancellorship of the Duchy of Lancaster in itself is almost a sinecure, and leaves the holder of the position free for special assignments in connection with the Government.

Ronald McNeill has been Financial Secretary to the Treasury since 1925 and has represented Canterbury in the House of Commons since 1918. From 1906 to 1911 he was assistant editor of the Eleventh Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. He has published several books, including "Home Rule, Its History and Dangers," 1907, and has contributed largely to the daily and weekly press and monthly magazines.

AUSTRALIANS WANT MORE TRADE WITH PEOPLE OF CANADA

Melbourne, Oct. 20.—The Minister of Trade and Customs of Australia, H. E. Pratter, told the House of Representatives he had been accumulating much information on the question of establishing trade representation in Canada and was considering the matter.

Thugs Rob Bank In Toronto and Make Escape

Four Bandits Threaten Death to Physician Pursuing Them Through Streets

Speed up Car and Outdistance Other Autos; Their Loot Totals $6,900

Toronto, Oct. 20—Ordering the staff of the branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Dundas Street and Ossington Avenue here into a vault, three armed bandits this morning took $6,900 in cash from the teller's cage and escaped in a motor car.

The engine of the auto had been kept running by a confederate.

SURPRISED STAFF

The robbers entered the bank shortly after it had opened and the staff, caught unawares, was locked in the vault. The bandits tried to open another vault containing money, but found this impossible and seizing all the money in the teller's cage, they rushed from the place.

In the rush to get away, the bandits overlooked $8,000 which was in the teller's cage.

Dashing into the bank, the men shouted "stick 'em up."

WERE PURSUED

They forced A. J. Anderson, the manager; Charles J. Roblin, teller, and Andrew Johnston, accountant, into the vault. As the robbers drove away they were pursued by a West End physician who was driving with his wife and daughter. The cars reached a speed of fifty miles an hour and finally the bandits, seeing they were being pressed hard, stopped their car at Dawson Street and ran on the road. There one bandit got out of the machine and revolver in hand, cooly walked to the doctor's car and threatened him with death if he attempted to follow farther. In view of the fact that he had his wife and daughter as passengers, the physician turned his car around and the bandits sped away in a westerly direction and disappeared, outdistancing other cars which had taken up the chase.

DISARMAMENT IS CECIL'S THEME NOW

Former Member of British Cabinet to Deliver Series of Addresses

London, Oct. 20.—Viscount Cecil, who resigned from the Baldwin Cabinet in August after a disagreement with his colleagues on disarmament, will launch a personal speaking campaign in the cause of disarmament tomorrow, when he will make the first of six or eight addresses to be delivered before Christmas, speaking at a special meeting of the British League of Nations Society.

"There is a strong feeling throughout Europe for disarmament," said Lord Cecil in an interview, "and it would certainly seem ridiculous if Great Britain, which has more to gain than any other country in the world by assurance of peace, should not give full support to the disarmament movement."

He declared he did not intend to initiate any new political controversy, saying: "My objective is to get something done for disarmament, not to quarrel with this party or that."

Selons is foreman of the grand jury.

The criminal docket includes two other murder charges, those against John Rotola and William Morfeth, and one of perjury. A. M. Johnson, K.C., is associated with Archie Donaghy of Nelson as prosecutor in the murder cases.

TEA RAIL RATES ARGUMENTS HEARD

Board Asked to Continue Commodity Rate From B.C. Eastward

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—That the extensive tea importing, blending and wholesaling industry of Vancouver was threatened by the proposed removal of the commodity impost rate on shipments from this city eastward was the contention of J. P. D. Malkin of the firm of W. H. Malkin Limited before the Railway Commission here this morning.

The commodity rate had prevailed since 1916, he stated, and under it the railways had enjoyed a growing traffic and the merchants of Vancouver had built up a business of large magnitude. The new rate would not only remove a great portion of the trade from Vancouver to Montreal, but would increase the average price of tea to prairie consumers by two cents a pound, he said.

EQUALIZED RATES

British Columbia merchants wanted no favors over Eastern houses in the same business and were quite willing the rates East and West should be

Kingsford-Smith, now in the United States as flight commander of the aeroplane Southern Cross, saying he can not see his way to grant further financial assistance for the projected flight from San Francisco to Sydney. He asked the aviator to abandon the project because of its danger.

Using a tri-motored Fokker monoplane, Capt. Kingsford-Smith and three companions hoped to hop off at San Francisco on the first leg of their flight as soon as the weather permitted. They had expected to reach Sydney in eight days.

Nanaimo, Oct. 20.—The Fall session of the Nanaimo assize court opened to-day with Mr. Justice Murphy presiding. There are four cases on the docket, namely, that of John S. McDonald, facing, two charges, first, a charge of theft and a second charge of being in possession of goods, knowing them to have been stolen; three Hindus, J. Mahomed, Sakyi Ali and M. Opium Conviction In Terminal City

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—Concluding a three-day trial in the Assize Court here, Lim Jim, prominent Chinese merchant, was found guilty by a jury of selling opium.

Lim Jim was remanded by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald to the close of the assizes for sentence.

In Lim Jim the police believe they have discovered one of the leaders of the narcotic drug ring in Vancouver. The prisoner is reputed to be a rich man, with many business affiliations in Chinatown, and of great influence among the local Chinese.

The importance attached to the case is instanced by the Canadian authorities obtaining the loan of Arnold C. Lachenauer, United States narcotic agent, resident in Detroit, who was brought from the East especially for this investigation. He was the star witness for the prosecution.

Much interest was evinced in the proceedings.

CIVIC HEADS OF WEST HERE FOR PARLEY

Lieut.-Governor Welcomes Western Canada Municipal Leaders at Empress

Further Tax Reduction in Victoria Forecast by Mayor J. C. Pendray

Over fifty cities and municipalities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia were represented as the Western Canada Development and Unity League convened for a three-day conference at the Empress Hotel this morning. Mayor Louis D. Taylor, Vancouver, is presiding.

Welcoming the members of the conference, His Honor, Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce, commented on the fact that this was the third gathering of municipal leaders of the Canadian West, and complimented the delegates on the example they were setting in co-operation and co-ordination of effort.

COMMON PROBLEMS

The age was one of mutual good fellowship and the desire to study common problems in search of a joint solution, said His Honor, who instanced the gathering in B.C. of four influential groups in sixty days. These were the Canadian Boards of Trade from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the Pacific Foreign Trades Conference, an international coast parley; the Mining and Metallurgical Congress of the Empire; while the forthcoming gathering of the all-Canadian Premiers was cited as the fourth occasion, which pointed to the trend of the times towards better understanding and mutual solution of problems.

(Concluded on page 15)

In a brilliant review of conditions in Western Canada from the standpoint of inter-municipal trade, Mayor J. A. Gregory of North Battleford brought delegates to the Western Canada Development and Unity Leaue conference to their feet in rounds of applause to-day.

Mayor Gregory ranged from an analytical survey of natural resources to the development of coast ports in advocating a dove-tailed programme of inter-municipal trade and expansion in the Canadian West. The Pacific Coast, he said, was of vital importance to the prairies, and there would be enough business for all in the mutual exchange of products and in the banding together along the lines of communication for export trade.

Canada, intimated the speaker, had much to learn from old-world countries in organization for industrial and agricultural growth, and international trade was a problem only dimly begun to be understood in the West.

Quoting facts and figures to show that Vancouver port charges were militating against its share in the grain trade, and urging the establishment of scientific research laboratories in each province in conjunction with universities for the study of natural resources and their uses, the speaker covered a wide range of subjects in an address that drew animated comment.

The history of Canada's development so far had shown that inter-provincial trade had not been studied from the administrative standpoint, declared Mayor Gregory. The present Federal Government had initiated a change of policy which was tending in that direction. There had been special treatment for the Maritimes, in subsidies, bonuses, and freight rate adjustment, and a genuine attempt to get Alberta coal distribued in Ontario, but the policy had not yet become a general one applying to all provinces.

There was enough coal in the Maritimes, Alberta and British Columbia to supply the whole coal needs of the country, if it could be distributed, continued the speaker, who disagreed with some attempts to import United States or Welsh coal.

PROMOTE TRADE WITHIN OWN LIMITS

"We must learn to get together as Provinces and promote trade within our own limits," continued the speaker. "There has been altogether too meek an acceptance of the conscious or unconscious mental attitude that believes Canada cannot do what is done in the United States. This is a psychological bent which is operating, whether we realize it or not, generally

LEVEL CROSSINGS TO BE ELIMINATED

Works to be Carried Out on Carroll Street Spur Line in Vancouver

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—If the Canadian Pacific Railway Company within the next ninety days does not submit to the city of Vancouver plans for elimination of level crossings on the Carrall Street spur line to the company's False Creek lines, the Railway Commission will make a mandatory order setting a date for presentation of the railway's proposals.

This was intimated by S. J. McLean, of the Railway Commission, chairman at its session this morning at the City Hall here.

Application of the Vancouver, Victoria and Eastern Railway and Navigation Company—the Great Northern Railway Company, for permission to close the Aldergrove Station, was granted by the board. The company was instructed, however, to place a caretaker at the station, but at the end of one year it may apply for permission to dispense with that position.

REORT PREPARED

Engineering surveys with a view to elimination of the Carrall Street level crossings have been completed by the local firm of Sidney E. Junkins Company of British Columbia Limited, and the report is now in the hands of C.P.R. executives.

This was the report of J. E. McMullen, C.P.R. counsel, to the Railway Commission.

ARMED FORCE NOW ON MALAITA ISLAND

Sailors From Cruiser Adelaide Will Punish Native Murderers

Suva, Fiji Islands, Oct. 20.—The British cruiser Adelaide anchored at Singapore, Malaita Island, in the Solomon group in the Southwestern Pacific, and landed a party of sailors who will operate with local authorities from a base camp to punish the perpetrators of the recent massacre in which several officers, including white persons, were killed.

Although details of the uprising are still lacking, it is reported the murders were commited by members of two bush tribes, some 200 to 300 natives of Malaita taking part.

Every endeavor is being made to arrest the murders by means of the civil forces at the disposal of the administration. About thirty selected Europeans have been enrolled in a special service in the armed constabulary.

Thirty soldiers from the Adelaide will accompany the expedition into the interior.

First official word of the Malaita massacre was received here October 5 by the British High Commissioner of the Western Pacific. It was said an uprising had resulted in the deaths of District Commissioner Bell, Cadet Lillies, fifteen native policemen and the native crew of the steamer Auk, at Malaita. The boatswain and four wounded policemen were the only survivors of the attack.

There was nothing to explain the sudden outbreak.

SECOND OUTBREAK

On October 11 word was received at Suva of another attack on foreigners, but less serious. A native cut the throat of a Chinese and another laborer bit a finger off the hand of his employer, presumably white.

The sloop Veronica of the New Zealand division of the British navy also is reported en route to the Solomons to assist in rounding up the outlaws. The Solmon Islands are under British rule.

CANADA ENTERING BLOSSOM TIME IN ITS WORLD CAREER

Inter-dependence of City and Its Neighbors Outlined By Mayor J. C. Pendray

Vancouver Island Communities Have Wonderful Openings Ahead

In a stirring address before the Esquimalt Board of Trade annual meeting last night Mayor J. C. Pendray received an ovation for his appeal for faith and unity in community problems. He said, in part:

"Canada in its Diamond Jubilee of Confederation is passing through one of the most interesting phases of its nationhood, the growing realization of power; power in the sense of vigor and hardihood, the pioneer courage that dares to break new trails; and above all power of mind and reasoning, that is steadily making our great land a dominant character in that league of nations, the British Empire.

"Many Canadian communities have been passing through lean years, years in which few there were who could see what lay ahead, or what would be the next logical step on the road to progress. In those years it was public-spirited bodies such as the Esquimalt Board of Trade that maintained the torch of faith in the coming greatness of our land.

"I believe sincerely that we here in the West are passing out of these lean years, and that the courage and determination of bodies such as yours will reap a rich reward. For Canada is coming to its 'blossom time,' with the promise of a rich harvest as a result of the endurance and foresight of those hardy pioneers, who broke new ground and have braved many storms to plant the seeds of wisdom that are soon to bear fruit.

NEED CO-OPERATION

"As communities with a common aim, we here on the southern end of Vancouver Island have a lesson to learn from the growth of commerce in our land, and I believe that we are all anxious to learn that lesson; it is that competition and strife should be replaced by co-operation and goodwill.

"There is a real and lasting independence affecting the futures of all communities here on the Pacific Coast; and the degree to which we succeed in realizing that fact measures the proportion of prosperity that we shall reap under the impetus of growing Pacific trade. That trade, I believe, will startle the world within the next two decades, and rear an international structure of commerce such as the world has not seen before.

"Right here in Esquimalt you have the possibilities of a world port. You have an ideal harbor, with valuable rail and water connection side by side. Your new drydock is a marine hospital that takes ships 'two-at-a-time.' The city within recent weeks was pleased to recommend Esquimalt Harbor as the most suitable site for a public airport here, and that site was judged by experts as ideal for the work.

BIG SHIP BUSINESS

"The point I wish to make is that you have everything on which to found your faith. Many transpacific liners of British register get their annual overhaul in the Orient. There is a chance for Esquimalt to step out and get that business, and the city would be pleased to back you up.

"In the city we are making genuine attempt to expand its industries and encourage new ones. The cold storage proposition and the grain elevator, both maturing steadily and satisfactorily, will involve a degree of increased shipping that cannot fail to have a reflex here in Esquimalt. Victoria, in turn, will benefit from your unsurpassed ship repair and docking facilities. So that there will be business, and profitable business in it for both communities.

"The same thing applies to Saanich, where a great increase in acreage will be made possible by the opening up of larger and steadier markets through the cold storage plant. Saanich products will find their way to the tables of New York Hotels. Saanich berries, including the logan which is now restricted, will find a ready outlet; while vegetables and fruits can be produced at a profit and marketed in vastly increased quantities. The same can be said of the fish taken off Island waters, and now going to United States markets without much of the profit coming this way.

"Increased business brings residents in its train, and Oak Bay has made a speciality of that feature of community development.

"Take a map of the lower end of Vancouver Island and look at it for a moment. Cover Esquimalt from sight, and Victoria loses the bulk of its ship repair facilities. Cover Saanich, and the necessary arable land required by every community is wiped out. Cover Oak Bay and you have removed a residence area that has proved a front rank asset. Cover the city, and all three neighboring municipalities are left very much in the air.

ONE GREAT FAMILY

"I believe the day is not far distant when it will be found mutually profitable to think of the whole of the southern end of Vancouver Island as one great family; a united community with common aims and a singleness of purpose that will work in harmony for its share of the world's trade coming to our shores in increasing measure via the Pacific.

"In closing let me say that I believe bodies such as the Esquimalt Board of Brade are building steadily for that day; and I believe, too, that we have not long to wait. Let me again congratulate you on the success you are meeting in Esquimalt. In so far as it can be of the slightest help in your plans the city is with you, and we would like to feel that you would reciprocate that feeling if the need arose."

TESTS FOR DRIVERS OF AUTOS IN B.C. NOW SUGGESTED

Vancouver Alderman Asks If Deaf and Dumb Persons Should Drive

Change in Act to Require Periodic Testing of Brakes Recommended

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—Can a deaf and dumb man operate an automobile with safety to himself and the public?

This question was raised at a meeting of the fire and police committee of the Vancouver city council yesterday by Alderman E. W. Dean, who asked the aldermen to endorse his proposal to ask the Government to test all motor drivers for competency to drive cars before issuing licenses.

Chief of Police H. W. Long reported he had recently taken a license away fro ma deaf and dumb man, only to bring down a storm of protest from the Society of the Deaf, which held that with nothing to distract his attention, a deaf and dumb man could operate a car with greater safety than a normal person.

TESTING OF BRAKES

Alderman Dean also requested the city seek an amendment to the Motor Vehicles Act to require periodic testing of all automobile brakes.

His suggestions were referred to a committee which will look up existing regulations and report on Monday.

WHOOPING COUGH QUESTIONS

Mrs. R. H. K. writes:

"Would it be asking too much to request you to print in your column some information about whooping cough? Your column is of the greatest interest to me, but having been away for a few weeks, I may have missed the article if you recently discussed this. Here are the questions:

"1—How long does whooping cough last?

"2—Is it contagious other than by contact with sufferer?

"3—What are its symptoms?

"4—How long is it in coming on, that is before the whoop appears?

"5—Must one continue to feed the child—even though it is immediately a cause for coughing and vomiting?

"6—What foods are most liable to stay put?

"7—Is the continued attendance of a doctor necessary?"

ANSWER

I am afraid these answers may come when they are too late to help you much if the baby has the whooping cough now, though we'll hope not.

Whooping cough is supposed to last for six weeks, though children sometimes cough for much longer.

It is not believed to be contagious except by contact with a person suffering with the disease.

Cold, fever, constant cough which grows worse, are the symptoms.

The whoop usually appears the third week, though there are no set rules about this.

The feeding of the child is the most important single item of the home treatment. It is essential that the child's nutrition be kept up and, as much of what he eats is lost because of vomiting, it is necessary to feed him oftener, in smaller amounts, and right after a vomiting spell, when it is easier to retain it.

The retention of foods depends somewhat on their blandness. Don't give highly seasoned foods. Milk, eggs, creamed vegetables, home cooked cereals, fruits, offer the right diet, and as said before it is better to feed the child six times during the day, in smaller amounts, than three times daily. Thick foods are easier kept down than liquid ones.

Your last question depends entirely on how severely the child has the disease. The younger the child the more serious the outlook and it seems quite safe to say that most children will need the attendance, of a doctor, in the beginning and during the worst period of the cough.

BEATTY DISCUSSES MOTOR COMPETITION

C.P.R. Head Declares Body of Travel Not Governed By Cheapness of Cost

White River, Vermont, Oct. 20.—Addressing the Chamber of Commerce of the State of Vermont at a dinner in his honor here last night, E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, took occasion to comment upon the effect of motor competition on railroad operation.

Mr. Beatty had referred to the common understanding that existed between the people of the United States and those of Canada and stated that it had been greatly fostered by the fact that there had always been a free interchange of travel across the border on the part of the citizens of each country. There was, however, one feature that militated against any great extension of passenger train service and customs figures showed that a quarter of a million Canadians in over 150,000 motor cars had visited the State of Vermont during the year 1926.

"They traveled," said Mr. Beatty, "in the motor car, the more expensive vehicle, instead of the railway passenger coach; the rates of which are by fixlaw at an exceptional low rate. They traveled on roads built at the expense of the general taxes to which the railroads are heavy contributors and will continue to travel as long as human nature is what it is now.

NOT PROTESTING

"I'm not protesting against the habit of motor travel, but I think it is only right to point that the body of travel is not governed by the cheapness of the cost, and that the railways are being penalized by arbitary rates to an extent that discourages any extensive new capital outlay on passenger equipment or service with the heavy expenditure on both roads all at the cost of the general taxpayer, including the railroads. The handling of freight on automobile trucks is also rapidly increasing and cutting into freight revenues on short hauls. If it is more convenient to the shipper to use such service nothing prevents him from so doing. But it seems only fair that such service should carry its proper share of the burden of road maintenance, just as the railroads pay for their own maintenance of way, and that the railroads should not be penalized by arbitrary rate structures on the top of taxation which helps to support the competitors."

Mr. Beatty pointed out that the greater part of produce depended for its ultimate market upon rail transportation and that the railroads must be in good financial position to maintain equipment and right-of-way in condition to provide satisfactory service. The good financial position of the railways depended on equitable treatment as to rates and taxes. The development of motor vehicles had added to the pleasure of the human race, had facilitated commerce and had provided a new industry of colossal proportions. It was here to stay and the railways would have to revise business and operating methods to meet resultant new conditions.

MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING

Mr. Beatty said that much of the mutual understanding of English-speaking peoples was due to the transportation facilities of to-day. Canadian and United States roads had been built because of the need for providing intercourse between the people of the East and those of the West, and, in the case of Canada, frequent interchange of visits between East and West had been of priceless value in cementing the bonds of Confederation. So, too, in the United States, the people of Vermont and New Hampshire were no strangers to the problems of those in the Far West. The result of this was that, in spite of the vast territories covered, and the variety of the races absorbed within a short time, into their respective populations both the United States and Canada presented a unity of effort which was the envy of older and smaller nations.

The speaker briefly outlined the place of the Canadian Pacific in Canadian Confederation and the history of the road's construction and later development and paid tribute to the contribution to its success made by Sir William Van Horne and Lord Shaughnessy, both of whom had come from the United States.

He pointed out that it was over a hundred years since the population of the United States equalled that of Canada to-day. There were two factors common to the development of both countries—the natural and important influence of steadily increasing population and, as a concomitant to that, the capital support of enterprises or developments of an industrial nature. Canada was thoroughly alive to both of those needs. America had no lack of confidence in Canada's future, as was evidenced by the fact that over two and a half billion dollars of American capital were invested in Canadian enterprises or Canadian securities.

INSPIRE CONFIDENCE

Mr. Beatty outlined the factors inspiring confidence in the future of Canada. Prominent among these, he said, were a good system of democratic government, a people noted for sanity in viewing and grappling with their problems and a great store of undeveloped natural resources. Of problems, the principal one was the relative sparsity of the population, and he knew of no question, whether it were fiscal or of transportation, the development of natural wealth or the increase in industrial activities, that could not be solved partially or entirely by the addition of more people to the country's population.

Canadians were privileged in that they were sharing in the fascinating work of national construction. A Canadian spirit was being developed by the realization that all were making their not unsubstantial contribution to the building of a nation and a spirit of loyalty of constructive effort and pride in growing achievement were factors which were bound to constitute a conspicuous contribution to the development of what would be a very great nation.

ONTARIO AVIATOR KILLED IN CRASH

Man Who Was With Him Now Lies in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Hospital

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 20.—Jeff Fitchie, aged thirty, a pilot of the Ontario Air Force, lost his life and Alan S. Grant, aged twenty-three, a son of Rev. Andrew S. Grant of Toronto, secretary of the general board of missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, lies in the War Memorial Hospital in Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, suffering from serious injuries as the result of an accident at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, yesterday when their aeroplane fell 500 feet and struck the ground in a pasture.

To onlookers it appeared as though Fitchie was attempting to make a landing in the St. Mary's River. When the plane was above the field and he saw a crash was imminent he circled, and just before the crash, righted the craft to a 45-degree angle to avoid a nose dive. The nose of the machine plunged into the soft earth, and as it skidded along at a terrific speed struck a plough ridge and piled up.

EXPERIENCED PILOT

Fitchie was declared to be an expert pilot and Grant was an assistant pilot. Fitchie came from Ireland but a few weeks ago to accept a position on the staff. The plane they were driving was one of the early ones used in Ontario forest patrol work.

The accident marks the first serious crash in the history of the Ontario division.

Agreement For Operation of Rail Link to be Made

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—The Abbotsford-Kilgard section of the V.V. & E. Railway Company will be operated by the Clayburn Company Ltd., subject to an agreement satisfactory to both parties being filed with the Railway Commission appointing the board arbiter in the determination of rates to be charged by the Clayburn Company on the products of the Atlas Company.

The board, at its afternoon session yesterday, suggested a conference between the interested parties and reserved its decision on the case.

Decision was also reserved on the application of the Balfour-Guthrie Warehouse Company Ltd. for absorption of unloading charges over its dock by the railway companies. The application of the Leonard Warehouses Ltd. for the absorption of cartage charges on outgoing freight was likewise reserved.

Aid is Asked in Anti-disease Fight

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—Dr. Henry E. Young, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, speaking at a noon luncheon of the health bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade yesterday, declared that Trail convalescents from infantile paralysis recently had refused to furnish provincial bacteriologists with their blood serum, the only known curative agent of the disease.

Every effort had been made to obtain this serum for use in preventing outbreaks of infantile paralysis in other sections of the Province, said Dr. Young.

The speaker urged medical men to help the Provincial Health Board to educate the public to the necessity for co-operating with the authorities. Convalescents in the cases under discussion had a duty to the community, he stated.

EARLY STATEMENT BY ARCHBISHOP IS NOW EXPECTED

Declaration on Bishop of Birmingham-Bullock-Webster Controversy Awaited

London, Oct. 20 (Canadian and Associated Press Cable)—Church circles were stirred to-day over the challenge to the foes of evolution and adherents to the doctrine of transubstatiation issued by the Bishop of Birmingham.

In an open letter to the Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of England, the Bishop defined his position on theological matters and declared: "No protest must hinder me as a bishop, and indeed as a Christian, from upholding religious truth. No man shall drive me to Tennessee or Rome."

The letter is the bishop's answer to the dramatic protest made last Sunday by Canon G. R. Bullock-Webster to the bishop's presence in the pulpit of historical St. Paul's Cathedral here.

STATEMENT BY ARCHBISHOP

Although Right Rev. Ernest William Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, concluded his letter to the Archbishop by saying that "of course it calls for no public reply," it is generally supposed the Archbishop will issue some rejoinder.

This would be done perhaps to try to allay acerbities, as the aged prelate is always regarded as a peacemaker. He is likely to take some time, however, to consider the question before acting.

The protest of Canon Bullock-Webster, who proceeded up to the transept and denounced to the congregation the Bishop for "pouring contempt on the doctrines and sacraments of the Holy Catholic Church," seems to have brought to a head a long-standing controversy. While he was being denounced, the Bishop remained standing, silent and impassive, while the organist sought to drown out the protest.

The controversy in the church exists between the Anglo-Catholics, who are charged by their opponents with leaning toward Rome, and the scientific and evangelical factions, to which, although for different reasons, the Anglo-Catholics are anathema. Whether this cleavage will lead to disruption only time will show, but differences on doctrinal matters are no new thing in the Church of England, which boasts of extreme tolerance and ability to shelter many beliefs.

APPOINTED BY MacDONALD

Although the controversy has nothing to do with secular politics, there is some interest shown in the fact that Bishop Barnes is regarded as a Socialist. He was appointed to the Bishopric of Birmingham when Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald was head of the Labor Government.

In his open letter, Bishop Barnes, who is a scientist as well as a churchman, invited the Archbishop of Canterbury to consider steps to "help those of us who are trying to fit the church to be the spiritual guide of an educated nation."

ORIGIN OF MAN

On the question of man's origin, the Bishop's letter says:

"Though all competent biologists accept man's evolution from an apelike stock, the theological consequences of such belief are still seldom stated. I set myself years ago to expound these consequences and to show why they did not seem to me to upset the main Christian position."

On the question of Sacraments, which was the immediate cause of Canon Bullock-Webster's protest in St. Paul's, Bishop Barnes in his letter reiterates his statement that the doctrine of transubstantiation is untrue.

"As every student of comparative religion knows," says the Bishop, "it has affinities with the magico-religious beliefs of a lower cultural level than that of our present civilization."

Although one of the outstanding members of the higher clergy of the Church of England, Bishop Barnes is a Fellow of the Royal Society, and the author of several treaties on scientific subjects which have been read before many of the learned organizations of England. His degrees include those of Master of Arts, Doctor of Divinity and Doctor of Science, and in addition to being a Fellow of the Royal Society, he is a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society. He has been Bishop of Birmingham since 1924.

He was educated at King Edward's College, Birmingham, and later at Trinity College, Cambridge, and was ordained in 1902. He was Canon of Westminster for several years, and is a member of the noted Athenaeum Club. He is fifty-three years of age.

New Rules For Exports Are Under Debate at Geneva

Geneva, Oct. 20.—The United States amendment to the proposed treaty for the removal of restrictions on exports, introduced by Hugh R. Wilson, Minister to Switzerland, at the International Conference on this subject yesterday, found no favor at the meeting of the subcommittee to which it was referred, and the indications are that the United States delegates must be content with some compromise.

The draft treaty provides that when licenses are required for exportation, the signatories shall comply with the provisions of the convention for simplification of customs formalities.

The United States is not a party to this convention, and Mr. Wilson said it was desirable to repeat its stipulations with the additional provision that when rationing of exports and imports seemed necessary, all the signatories should have the right to an equitable share in proportion of their normal volume of trade in the particular class of goods affected. He also contended no distinction should be made between direct and indirect shipments.

The majority of the delegates on the committee criticized the United States suggestion as too vague, saying they failed to understand the meaning of the phrase that when countries rationed their exports account should be taken of the buying country's "normal volume of trade."

M. Surrays, French delegates, in an effort to bring about a solution of the troublesome situation, introduced a compromise paragraph equitable to all countries, this being judged essential to the just administration of international trade.

Mr. Wilson informed the committee this might prove a satisfactory basis for discussion, and cabled the text of the compromise paragraph to Washington.

ROTARY PLANS ICE CARNIVAL

Novel Entertainment at Arena to be Offered in November

Need of Irrigation in Saanich Stressed by Rev. M. J. Bruce

The Rotary Club will hold an ice carnival at the Arena in mid-November, featuring some of the finest skating and amusement talent in North America. At to-day's luncheon at the Empress Hotel, J. H. Beatty and other members of a special committee explained the scheme and outlined the substantial profits to be expected.

The Vancouver Rotary Club is bringing to the Coast, for a similar carnival on November 18, artists from Winnipeg and Minneapolis, and these entertainers can be engaged by the Victoria Rotary Club at small expense. President Fletcher reviewed the novelty of the proposed entertainment and the popularity to be expected.

J. P. Watson reported that the superfluities sale, to be held in the showrooms of Thomas Plimley, will be a great success.

President M. J. Bruce of the Saanich Board of Trade reviewed the progress of Saanich during the past seven years, and showed that provision of water for irrigation would be of inestimable value to the peninsula. He estimated the cost at $1,000,000, and remarked upon the small prospect of attainment of irrigation until "a great number of people who have only wishbones exchange them for backbones."

Mrs. Archie Wills rendered two solos, to the accompaniment of Mrs. Matthews.

The members will attend the funeral of the late Mrs. H. Anderson, Mr. Anderson being an honorary member of the Rotary Club.

OBJECTS OF NEW CHURCH ARE STATED

Supporters of Rev. Dr. Shields Form "Regular Baptist" Union

Toronto, Oct. 20.—The objects of the "Union of Regular Baptist Churches of Ontario and Quebec," formed here last night at a meeting of those who support the views of Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, are declared to be "to promote the preaching of the Gospel, the prosecution of missionary, evangelistic and educational work and to co-operate with all regular Baptists in the dissemination of the principles and dostrines held by regular Baptist churches, which said principles and doctrines are set out in the trust deeds of the church."

The Jarvis Street Baptist Church last week was excluded from the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

During the discussion at the meeting yesterday Dr. Shields read a telegram from Vancouver expressing appreciation of "your noble stand in the recent convention" and voicing the belief that the organization of a separate convention was necessary. "We hope it will be called the Convention of Regular Baptists of Ontario and Quebec," stated the telegram, which was greeted with applause.

McMASTER UNIVERSITY

The supposition that action may be taken against McMaster University, Toronto, was further borne out in a statement made by Dr. C. J. Holman in a letter to Thomas Urquhart, read at the evening session.

Dr. Holman is the only surviving executor of the will of the late Senator McMaster. The letter ran in part as follows:

"The darkest chapter in the history of Canadian Baptists has been written. By all means let us have a new convention that will be free from Modernism, that will stand four-square for the infallible Word and be faithful to its trusts.

TRUST RECALLED

"As an executor of Mr. McMaster, I charge that that convention has proved unfaithful to the trust, regarding the objects which he had in view, in appointing a professor who actually rejects the substitutionary atonement for which Canadian Baptists have always stood, and whose unsettling teaching is destructive of faith in the Bible as the infallible Word."

Any "regular" Baptist churches located outside of Ontario and Quebec may, upon application and on official signing of the declaration and articles of the constitution, become members of the union and send delegates to the conventions of the new union.

Ex-Postmaster at Yarrow, B.C., Put End to His Life

Chilliwack, B.C., Oct. 20.—Making two attempts, James Hounsome, former postmaster at Yarrows, eight miles southwest of here, took his own life last night by shooting. He was eighty-three years of age and a British army pensioner. It is presumed despondency prompted his act.

Lying on his bed, he had first attempted to shoot himself with a shotgun, tying a string to the trigger which he tried to release with his toe. Apparently the jerk pulled the muzzle out of his mouth, for it was found the shot grazed the side of his head and went into the wall. He then took a .32-calibre revolver and shot himself in the head.

Mr. Hounsome was a widower and is not known to have had any relatives in this vicinity. He had been at Yarrow since 1889 and was well known.

An inquest will be held.

Aeroplane Wing Washed Ashore in Southern England

London, Oct. 20.—An Air Ministry representative has been sent ashore to investigate the discovery of an aeroplane wing washed ashore at Guarnards Head, near St. Olves, Cornwall.

The wing was reported to bear no identification marks other than several red and white stripes.

The Colwood Optimists Club will meet in the Colwood Hall on Tuesday evening, October 25.

JUDGE MAKES RULING IN ELECTION CASE

Explanation of M.P. For Oxford, Ont., Regarding Expenses is Accepted

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 20.—T. M. Cayley, Liberal M.P. for South Oxford, Ont., has received "absolution" for failure to cause to be transmitted through his election agent the return and declarations respecting election expenses that are called for by the Dominion Elections Act. A court order has been issued by Acting Judge W. T. McMullen, allowing the authorized excuse for which the statute provides.

This disposes of the application for an authorized excuse, but the action brought by Dr. F. M. Canfield under Section 79 of the act is yet to be heard.

This suit, if successful, would cost Mr. Cayley $500 for each day he sat in Parliament without his returns being filed, which total about $25,000.

JULIAN BUYING MORE B.C. MINES

Vancouver, Oct. 20.—Further investment in British Columbia mining property is being considered by C. C. Julian of Los Angeles, who is in Vancouver to examine some claims about 100 miles north of the city.

Mr. Julian, former head of the Julian Petroleum Company, California, is on his way home from New York. He declared that his engineers are investigating various properties in the Province for the past few months.

The Cascade Consolidated, near Revelstoke, is controlled by Mr. Julian.

$100,000 FIRE IN QUEBEC TOWN

Campbellton, N.B., Oct. 20.—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a fire at Maria, Que., in Bonaventure County Saturday night, according to word received here. The flames destroyed a large storehouse and seven other buildings, the property of J. F. Guite Limited.

The loss was partly covered by insurance. No loss of life or injury to persons resulted.

Insurance Against Illness in Italy

Rome, Oct. 20.—The Fascist Government's plan for insurance against tuberculosis, adopted in principle at yesterday's meeting of the Council of Ministers, merely is the first step for the providing of insurance against all diseases among working people, according to a Government statement today. This is taken to mean that in the future workingmen and workingwomen of Italy will always have medical care and attention at Government hospitals and that when they are heads of families their dependents will be aided during the illness and convalescence of the breadwinners.

Rome, Oct. 20.—The English aviators, Capt. Lancaster and Mrs. Keith Miller, on their London-to-Australia flight, arrived at the Ciampino aerodrome here yesterday. They flew from Dijon.

INTERPROVINCIAL CO-OPERATION

PRACTICALLY ALL THE CITIES OF Western Canada have their own peculiar problems; but it is safe to say that some of them are common to all. For this reason the deliberations between the mayors and reeves who compose the membership of the Western Canada Development and Unity League, which began in Victoria this morning, are bound to be productive of good results.

Co-operation is the keynote to modern business and the better and more intimate the relations between employer and employed, the greater the mutual benefit. A province is a business organization of many parts in which civic administration stands second only to that of provincial government. There must be co-operation between the municipalities and the central authority. If that system works well—and the whole machinery of government would collapse if it did not—there is no reason why the provinces themselves, through their municipal administrators, should not develop their scheme of co-operation in relation to those matters which are of direct civic concern. It was to bring about an arrangement of this kind that the League was established a year or so ago, and it is to be congratulated upon the work it is doing.

This is the first time the organization has met in Victoria and it will give the delegates an opportunity of studying at close range much they have heard from this city's representatives on former occasions. They will be able to familiarize themselves with local conditions generally. This no doubt will be informative and interesting to them, assisting them to form new views of old problems, from the discussion of which much profit may be earned by all.

ANOTHER RAID ON OTTAWA?

IT IS REPORTED THAT MOST, IF NOT all, of the provinces are preparing to submit applications for larger financial subsidies from the Dominion at the conference of Premiers to be held next month.

The Federal Government should vigilantly guard the national treasury against any such raid, not only in the interest of the Dominion but in that of the provinces as well. If it weakened in this instance there would be no end to the demands of the provinces, and the Federal Government, instead of reducing taxation as it is trying to do, would be forced to increase it. As for the provinces, the receipt of more money from the Ottawa chest would simply be an encouragement for them to spend more.

There is another aspect of this question worth noting. If the Dominion opened the door of the national treasury to the provinces, the cities would unite in a raid upon the provincial treasuries, in many cases with much more justification than some of the provinces would have for their demands upon Ottawa. And the more the cities got in this way the more they would spend, and not all of it wisely. We know this from the way municipal surpluses disappear.

The Dominion Government bore the whole cost of the war, and is paying the interest on a national debt of around $2,300,000,000, nearly nine-tenths of which arose out of that conflict. The Dominion also is paying pensions and bearing other heavy costs incidental to the country's recovery from the war.

It also should be remembered that the Dominion assumed liabilities, amounting to many millions, contracted by the provinces on account of railway construction, notably the projects of the Canadian Northern Railway.

The Dominion should return to the provinces lands and other resources which it controls within provincial boundaries, but this should not imply that the Dominion also should finance the provinces in administering those resources. If the provinces cannot administer them without outside aid they should let the Dominion keep them.

No doubt, if the provinces will take over some of the war debt, pensions, soldiers' civil re-establishment and reassume the liabilities to which they committed themselves on behalf of Mackenzie & Mann's railway projects a few years ago, the Dominion will enlarge its per capita allowances to them. For the most part the provinces are in a very healthy condition—at least they ought to be. Certainly, judging by the roseate reports steadily emanating from their governments they are not "infant industries."

A FINE TOURIST SEASON

DOES IT PAY VICTORIA TO ADVERtise for tourists? Is this community getting full value for the money it spends every year on publicity?

When the annual appropriation is under discussion by the City Council a few of our citizens write to the newspapers and doubt the wisdom of this expenditure. Not a few of them openly oppose it on the ground that it is money wasted. It is fortunate for them and the city in general that the aldermanic body refuses to be influenced by their scepticism.

The answer to the questions we have asked is to be found in the statement just made public by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. It tells us that this year has been a record year for tourist travel, that 362,000 tourists visited this city during the season and that they spent between them approximately $7,240,000. The steady growth of this movement from year to year, moreover, is a reliable indication that the 1928 revenue very probably will reach the $10,000,000 mark.

Contrast this return with the small amount which the City Council donates from the public treasury. Is there any business in the world which returns one-hundredth part of the dividends which this small investment returns every year? If there is we should like to know about it.

Not even the Publicity Bureau would claim that all our tourist business is a direct return from its advertisements and general publicity. Not a few come here because they have been told what the community has to offer by those who have been here before. But it should be remembered that the small amount of funds made available every year for the use of the Bureau enable it to keep Victoria before the traveling public all the time in some way or other.

The season's statement shows the value of advertising. The annual grant is one of the best investments the City makes.

THE DATE OF THE "NEXT WAR"

THE FOLLOWING DISPATCH CABLED from London the other day was published in the newspapers of this country:

Prediction of a great war was made to-night by Basil Stewart, one of the speakers at the meeting of the society known as "British Israelite," held at Londonderry.

Mr. Stewart made the solemn prediction that the next world war will start on May 28, 1928, and will continue until September 16, 1936. He based his prediction on the symbolism of the great pyramid, combined with what he termed prophetic forecasts of the Bible, and he asserted that the war would be accompanied by unprecedented convulsions of nature, floods and earthquakes.

England, he said, and other countries which are the "port of Israel," will emerge victorious, but Russia, asserted the prognosticator, will be wiped out entirely.

Lord Desborough presided in the absence of the Dowager Countess of Radnor, who is president of the society.

Two or three comments may be made on this prediction. In the first place, very few people in the world will seriously suggest that any nation or group of nations would undertake to invade Russia and conduct a war on Russian soil. Fighting on Russian territory would be fighting geography and geography would win. Nor is there any likelihood of Russia trying to invade any other country in force. In the second place, it can be said definitely that no future war could be carried on for eight years without the bolshevization of the whole world and the destruction of our civilization altogether. From this no country would escape.

The suggestion that the "next war" will be a greater conflict and last longer than the Great War need not be taken seriously. The whole world was involved on the last occasion; but it is certain that nothing like so many countries would involve themselves again. Finally, of course, with the exception of the United States, there is no country in the world financially equipped for waging war for two years, let alone eight.

Many predictions have been made on the basis of pyramidal revelations; but only rarely have specific dates been mentioned. Those who pin their faith to ancient symbols, however, will have no alibi on this occasion. May 28 next year is the date they say is set for a great new world war to begin, and September 16, 1936, is the date set for its ending.

TEACUP TOWER, found on the grounds of Siam's royal palace, is one of the most unique bits of architecture to be found on the globe. Many years ago a British ship laden with chinaware struck a hidden reef in the Gulf of Siam, and cast its shattered cargo on the beach. The king immediately ordered that the broken china be collected. The royal architect determined to build a tower with the pieces, and today it stands a masterpiece of pure Siamese art. FR

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, OCTOBER 20, 1902

Since the return of the Premier from his trip to the northern portion of this island there has been a revival of interest in the political situation as manifested across the bay. The Premier has now been home weeks from the coronation, and yet he has not handed in his resignation to His Honor, despite his apparent desire to do so the moment he reached Victoria.

A number of Victorians yesterday took in the excursion to Crofton, the attraction being the smelter, which is now in operation. They went on the 7 o'clock train to Sidney.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate or fresh winds, chiefly cloudy, with rain.

So far as present indications are concerned, navigation between White Horse and Dawson may last until early in November. It was still open and all the river steamers were running when the Amur, which arrived here this morning left Skagway. A number of the larger vessels will lay up owing to the low state of the rivers.

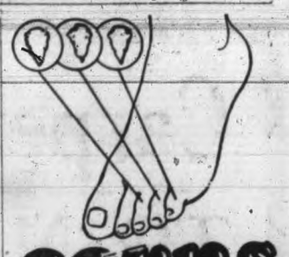
Between this port and Ahousaht, on the West Coast, the most remote point of call on the trip just completed, the steamer Queen City, which returned to port yesterday, sighted no schooners, but will probably, however, meet several on the voyage on which she departs this evening.

Stephen Jones, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel, has shown his readiness to seize upon every up-to-date idea in connection with his house by installing an illuminated sign. At the corner nearest to Douglas Street what the proprietor describes as his "pillar of fire" has been put in position. With a dark background the letters of "Dominion" are emblazoned by means of electric lights from the cornice of the building to within about ten feet off the ground. The effect is very pretty, and serves as a splendid advertisement for the hotel.

Tax Requests For Schools Are Made By B.C. Trustees

Harrison Hot Springs, BC, Oct 20—A share in Government taxes derived from licenses, gas and liquor, was sought by rural district boards at yesterday's session of the annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association here and resolution to that effect was endorsed.

A Vancouver resolution urging more equitable distribution of school taxes, the Government to devise the means, was carried, after it had been pointed out that it was intended to make Orientals and non-landowners contribute to school maintenance.



corns

come out quite easily after Radox

Cutting the tops off corns is useless. The hard top is simply dead skin. Knives and caustics cannot reach the live root that presses painfully on the nerve. For this you need Radox Bath Salts in a footbath.

Radox gets to the root of a corn, softens it, renders it easy to be withdrawn bodily. Try Radox to-night, as the writer of this letter did:

"I am very pleased with your Radox Bath Salts. My corns were so bad I was walking quite limp, but after using Radox Bath Salts my corns came out quite easily, and I am now able to walk quite well without any pain at all."
9th April, 1928. B.C.

When you dip your foot into a footbath containing Radox, the dead skin (of the corn) combines with the Radox Salts to form a protein salt of the actual corn itself. This protein salt dissolves in the water, and so softens the corn that, after a few baths, it may be lifted out bodily.

Radox does not affect the living skin, but dissolves the dead skin—the corn.

ULTRA-VIOLET RAY MACHINE IS GIVEN TO SOLARIUM

A. Millbank of New York Makes Generous Gift; Directors Report Progress

The most modern system of ultra-violet radiation, to supplement the health-giving rays of the sun, will shortly be installed at the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay. This has been made possible through the generosity of A. Millbank of New York, a frequent visitor to Victoria, who has given $1,000 for the purpose.

This is one of the many interesting items noted in the half-yearly report of the Solarium read at the recent meeting of the board of directors and which reads as follows:

"Since March 1, 1927, fifty-eight children have been admitted to the Solarium, seventeen have been discharged. Of the seventeen discharged, one returned to the Jubilee Hospital at once as unsuitable for treatment; one was removed by his parents after four weeks, and one girl, whose mentality was definitely subnormal on admission, and did not improve, was sent home.

CHILDREN BENEFITED

"Of the remaining fourteen who left the Solarium, there has been definite improvement in every case, in general health with gain of weight. The maximum gain in weight occurred in a girl of fourteen, with arthritis, who gained 17½ pounds, between May 23 and October 2 (nineteen weeks).

"In another case, a boy who was admitted at the end of April, weighing 56 pounds, and who had been suffering for some four to five years, off and on, from abscesses connected with his bones, there was no material improvement for three months, the wounds healed and broke down again, and his weight slightly dropped. On August 1 he weighed 54¾ pounds, following the opening of another large abscess. To-day, all wounds are healed, he is walking about and weighs 67 pounds, a gain of 12 pounds in ten weeks.

GRATEFUL PARENTS

"The majority of the little patients who have left the Solarium were cases of marked debility following illness, or children in general poor health, without obvious or definite disease. The decision of the directors to admit such cases for treatment as a means of prevention of more serious, or prolonged ill-health, has been amply justified by the results in every case, and the reports received from their parents and doctors are very encouraging.

"Some of these reports follow:

Married Couple's Kiss Costly One For Ohio Policeman

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 20.—One kiss in the dark will cost Police Sergeant Frank Rolph $2,200 instead of $3,657. This police sergeant did not even do the kissing. Mr. and Mrs. Mack, legally wed, did it in the back of their car and the sergeant arrested them for petting. A jury gave the Macks the larger sum as balm for having been arrested falsely and having their characters defamed, but Rolph appealed and yesterday the case was settled out of court.

As a token of esteem and goodwill the gift of a handsome silver tea service from the pupils and their parents was presented to Miss Humphries. On the same occasion the members of the staff expressed their appreciation of her interest in the school by the gift of an engraved silver cake plate. The tea room was prettily arranged by members of the committee with chrysanthemums and Autumn leaves, and tea was served by former pupils of Miss Humphries.

FOLLIES BEAUTY IS TIRED OF RANCHING

Walter J. Hill, Railroad Magnate, Sued by Wife

New York, Oct. 20.—The New York Daily News to-day says Mildred Richardson Hill, formes Follies beauty, is seeking a separation from Walter J. Hill, son of James J. Hill, railroad magnate and empire builder.

The Daily News quotes the following telegram sent by Mrs. Hill from Hill's ranch in Montana to her physician and friend, Dr. Morton K. Hertz, of this city:

"Left husband October 10. Filed suit October 17, charging habitual intemperance and cruel treatment. Found him wild as the mountain scenery here. He pretended to be a gentleman while courting me in the East, but he is a regular Jekyll and Hyde. Have suffered intense humiliation at his language and actions everywhere. He is insanely jealous and threatened me if I left him, but I finally got up the courage. Trial for separation will be heard in Butte, October 26. Senator Tom Walker, my attorney. Mildred."

In contrast to this message, however, The Daily News cites the telegram to Dr. Hertz from Mrs. Hill in which she announced her marriage at Livingston, Mont., on May 18:

"Well, I did it to-day and am happy," the message said.

Mildred Richardson, whom Florenz Zeigfeld once called "a perfect American beauty on a perfect stem," was married to Hill ten minutes after he had received a divorce from his second wife, the former Pauline Gillison of New York, upon whom he settled $1,000,000 by court order.

At the time of her marriage, the former Follies beauty announced she was tired of Broadway and looked forward to a life on her husband's ranch. "From now on we are going to be real Montana ranchers," she said. "Walter knows all about livestock and I am going to help him in the things in which he is interested."

Chapter Loses Officer—At the meeting of the Valentine Harvey-Beaumont Boggs Chapter, I.O.D.E., held on Tuesday, a letter was read from Mrs. R. H. Bates resigning her position as honorary secretary. As she had left Victoria it was with many regrets the chapter had to accept it, feeling it could ill afford to lose such an old an valued officer. Miss Thurburn, standard bearer, was given a warm welcome on her return from a holiday in England. The dance which was to have been given on October 21 was changed to a bridge party to be held instead on Wednesday, October 26, at the Victoria Club, Campbell Building, with Mrs. A. F. Beasley as convener. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

TICKLE AGREES TO PUT PRESS CLUB BALL OVER WITH LATEST IN JAZZ

All the very latest in syncopation will be provided at the Press Club's Hallowe'en Ball at the Empress Hotel on October 28, by Professor Tickle and his ever-popular Crystal Garden Orchestra.

Conclusion of arrangements between the Press Club and Ivan W. Awde, manager of the Crystal Garden, whereby his musicians will play for the ball, was hailed with delight by officials of the club.

"This means that the club has put over the biggest scoop in years," said Frank Pagett, chairman of the dance committee, in announcing that Professor Tickle and his orchestra would be in attendance. "Up to midnight Len Acre and his musicians will play. At midnight the Crystal Garden experts will be ready with their best. And there is no better than those fellows' best."

St. John's Sale of Work—St. John's branch of the Junior Women's Auxiliary will hold a sale of work in the schoolroom, Mason Street, to-night, October 20, at 7.30. A short musical programme and refreshments will be provided. Donations of any description towards the sale of work will be gladly welcomed by the superintendent, Mrs. Alfred Hallam.

OAK BAY CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

Miss Helen Maude Wilson Becomes Bride of Wm. R. Stobart

A pretty wedding took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the Oak Bay United Church when the Rev. W. A. Guy united in marriage Helen Maude Wilson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Victoria, and Mr. William Ritson Stobart, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stobart of Yale Street, Oak Bay.

Chrysanthemums, ferns and palms were used to decorate the church by friends of the bride.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Tom Wilson, the bride was gowned in periwinkle-blue flat crepe trimmed with shadow lace, and wore a hat in the corresponding shade trimmed with French flowers. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses and maidenhair fern.

Miss Margaret Wilson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a frock of yellow tafetta, adorned with a cluster of French flowers at the waist line and black panne velvet hat. Her bouquet was a sheaf of gladioli and carnations.

The groom was supported by Mr. Frederick Victor Richardson, and the ushers were Messrs. Allan Stobart and Cyril Ivings.

During the signing of the register, Miss Alma Peatt sang "Because," accompanied by Mr. Harry Hollins, who also played the wedding marches.

Following the service at the church, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J W. Stobart, Yale Street, where the happy couple received the felicitations of a large number of guests. Autumn flowers and foliage were used in floral decoration throughout the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Stobart left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, en route via Edmonton to Wabamum, Alberta, where they will make their future home. Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. E. Vaughan of Vancouver, sister of the bride, and Mrs. W. Archer of Vancouver.

CARAVAN MISSION FOUNDER COMING

Miss Eva Hasell to Tell of Her Work in Remote Settlements

Miss Eva Hasell, who has for seven Summers traveled through Western Canada in Sunday School Mission Caravans reaching settlers and children in the most outlying districts, will be in Victoria this week, and will address a number of gatherings describing her most recent experiences.

On Friday evening Miss Hasell will give a lantern lecture in St. Paul's Church house, Esquimalt, beginning at 7.30 o'clock. On Saturday afternoon, accompanied by a fellow-worker, Miss Sayle, Miss Hasell will address an informal gathering of those interested in the work at the home of Mrs. A. R. Merrix, 1221 Richardson Street.

Sunday will be spent by these enterprising workers in addressing Sunday Schools. In the morning, Miss Hasell will speak to the Senior School of the Cathedral at 9.45 o'clock in the Memorial Hall, and will follow this by an address to the Young Women's Bible class and any young woman who would like to meet her, in the guild room at 10 o'clock. She will later speak to the Junior School children at 11 a.m., at their usual children's service in the Memorial Hall. In the afternoon, Miss Hasell and Miss Sayle will address the children at St. Barnabas's and St. Mark's Sunday Schools.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BY POST

The work of the Sunday School Mission Caravan, with its associated auxiliary, the Sunday School by Post, is becoming well known throughout Western Canada. The caravan work was begun in 1920 by Miss Hasell, and has been financed largely by her efforts, aided since by grants from the General Board of Religious Education and the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church. The work is now carried on in seven Western Dioceses, and last Summer no less than eight vans were at work in the prairie provinces and British Columbia.

As an indication of the character of the work done, the following statistics for the past two years (1925-1926) have been issued: Homes visited, 4,128; children found for baptism, 478; members secured for Sunday School by Post, 4,436; Sunday Schools started, 49, and public schools visited, 127.

Miss Hasell is Diocesan organizer for Sunday Schools in the Diocese of Carlisle, England, and will begin her return journey after speaking in Victoria over the week-end.

ANGLICAN W.A. TO MEET ANNUALLY

Dominion Board Decides to Discontinue Triennial Gatherings

Toronto, Oct. 20.—It was decided at yesterday's session of the Dominion Board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church that triennial meetings will be discontinued in the future and will be replaced by annual conferences.

The conferring of a Dominion life membership on Mrs. Frances S. Bruce, president of Chester Branch for the past ten years, was a feature of the session.

An interesting speaker was Miss Noran Bowman of Japan, who revealed intimate glimpses of women and children in the Orient. She told the gathering that smoking, a favorite indulgence, was renounced by many women, in order that they might devote the money thus saved to the missions. It was not the flappers, however, that made this sacrifice but the mothers of families, said Miss Bowman.

The statistical story of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican church as presented yesterday at the meeting of the Dominion Board showed that $230,658 was raised in 1926 and that the numerical strength of the organization showed an increase of 13,689 since the last triennial meeting.

A vivid description of Germany's entrance into the League of Nations was given by Canon Cody of Toronto at the evening session. The speaker declared public good will to be absolutely essential if the League was to have any positive value.

CHINESE AVIATRIX DIES IN EDMONTON

Mrs. Annie Lee Took up Flying in 1918; Born in B.C.

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 20.—Edmonton's only aviatrix, Mrs. Annie Lee, a Chinese woman, died recently, aged forty-two. Mrs. Lee took up aviation at Saskatoon in 1918, and has since made it her hobby. She bought a machine and studied under Lin On until her aeroplane was smashed by her instructor. In 1920 she studied under Lieut. Gorman of Edmonton. She concluded her flying education under Capt. Wop May of Edmonton.

Mrs. Lee was also a talented actress, and when the Chinese play, "General Chen Hing Ming's Rebels," was presented in Edmonton in aid of the Chinese National League (and on one occasion under the auspices of the Edmonon branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club) she took the part of Mrs. Lu, wife of the secretary of Canton, with grace and ability. It is only comparatively recently that women took any part in the presentation of Chinese plays, and the appearance of Mrs. Lee was a tribute to the emancipation of women in China.

For many years Mrs. Lee has been a prominent business woman of Edmonton and proprietor of the Depot Cafe. She was born at Lillooet, B.C. Her three children, Nellie Chong, Thomas Chong and Stanley Chong, are also native born.

proved; color very good; gaining weight steadily.'

"'Benefited remarkably by treatment at the Solarium.'

"'Has been in the best of health since leaving the Solarium, and we feel the treatment there did wonders towards building her up.'

"'General condition better than ever has been.'

"'The most pronounced improvement, to my mind, is her nerves.'

"'She has benefited very greatly by the treatment.'

"'The mother is very satisfied with the improvement.'

"'My little girl now seems to be very well indeed; the course of treatment at the Solarium has been of the greatest benefit to her.'

"'Now says she feels well; something she has not said for over two years; she is returning to school, and her parents say she is not the same child.'

"'He has no lameness whatever, and can run well again.'

CASES UNDER TREATMENT

"Of the children now in the Solarium, twenty-two are suffering from the effects of inflammation of bones, joints, spine or glands, and thirteen of these are definitely tubercular in origin. Fourteen are old cases of infantile paralysis, with various physical deformities and degrees of paralysis.

"The general condition of all the children has shown marked improvement, especially in the tubercular cases.

"Our short experience of the bathing pool this year has demonstrated the great value that it will be to us in the future.

"Thanks to the generous gift of $1,000 from A. Millbank of New York, the most modern system of ultra-violet radiation will shortly be installed.

"Children have come to the Solarium from Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Saanich, Sidney, Nanaimo, Vancouver, North and South Vancouver, New Westminster, Port Haney, White Rock, Port Moody, Pender Island, Hornby Island, Kootenay Bay, Fernie, Armstrong, Arrowhead, Shelley and Prince Albert. Ten children will be discharged during the next six weeks. There are six children awaiting admission and twenty further applications for forms of admisison have been made."

NORTH SAANICH CLUB TRAFALGAR DAY DANCE

The North Saanich Social Club, with the kind co-operation of Major Layard, president of the Deep Cove Branch of the Navy League, is keeping its annual celebration of Trafalgar Day this year with a naval concert and dance, to be held in the club rooms, School Cross Roads on Friday evening, October 21, at 8 p.m. The concert will take place on the quarter deck of H.M.S. Victory, and all the good old sea songs will be in evidence.

Following the concert, refreshments will be served and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing. Rehearsals have been going forward steadily for some time, and as these local concerts have proven very popular functions during the past seasons, the affair will no doubt be well patronized.

The club has drawn up a programme of the social events to be held under their auspices in their hall, School Cross Roads during the coming season, which is as follows: Oct. 21, Trafalgar concert and dance; Nov. 7, children's fancy dress concert, "The Magic Fan;" Dec., Christmas Tree for club members' children; Jan. 13, children's fancy dress dance; Feb. 14, annual St. Valentine dance; March 17, annual St. Patrick's dance.

Paolino Hurts Back Doing a "Slip-slip" And Cannot Battle

New York, Oct. 20.—Paolino Uzcudun, Spanish heavyweight, will not be able to go through with his scheduled match with Phil Scott, British champion, at Madison Square Garden on November 1, as a result of spraining his back in training, his "board of managers" announced yesterday. Paolino will appear before the State Athletic Commission's physician to-day for examination to determine the extent of his injury.

The injury was sustained while the Spaniard was doing some of his famous "slips-slips."

"What was that big scandal at the fancy dress party last night?"

"An artist's model arrived."

"Well?"

"She was wearing her business suit."

Fish Oil Production Will Reach 3,000,000 Gallons On West Coast

Pilchard Plants Break All Records With Heavy Output of Oil and Meal; All Districts Show Big Gain Over Last Year; Fish Arrive Late But in Large Numbers

Production of fish oil and meal on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, the centre of the reduction business, broke all records this season, according to official figures received at the Provincial Fisheries Department.

The total output of the nineteen reduction plants operating on the Island coast up to October 8 was 2,792,191 imperial gallons of oil and 12,687 tons of meal, a large gain over the 1926 figures. With pilchards still running strongly at some points, the season's total production will top 3,000,000 gallons of oil and 13,000 tons of meal, it is expected.

Ah this time last year production was much smaller. Altogether 1,823,375 imperial gallons of oil and 7,992 tons of meal had been produced by the fifteen plants then operating.

SEASON WAS LATE

These figures were taken to mean that the pilchard season has been a remarkable success this year, although it started extremely late. The hordes of oily little fish came late to the Coast from their unknown breeding grounds far out in the Pacific and operators of reduction plants feared for a time that they would not come at all in worthwhile quantities. In August, however, they reached the Coast in enormous volume and since that time have been caught freely at most points. Just as fishermen had tied up their boats for the season a new run got under way recently and the fish are still being caught.

ALL AREAS BENEFIT

In Barkley Sound, where seven reduction plants operate, 652,215 imperial gallons of oil and 3,313 tons of meal were produced up to October 8, the official figures show. Last year five plants in the sound produced 494,820 gallons of oil and 2,265 tons of meal.

Six plants in the Experanza, Nootka and Clayoquot areas produced 1,400,919 gallons of oil and 6,274 tons of meal, as against 1,025,489 gallons and 4,425 tons in 1926.

Plants around Kyoquot and Quatsino turned out 728,970 gallons of oil and 3,400 tons of meal, as compared with 303,066 gallons and 1,302 tons a year ago.

Fishery officials have no doubt that oil production will pass 3,000,000 gallons this year, as against the total production last year of 1,898,721 gallons, while the 7,948 tons of meal produced altogether last year already have been exceeded and may be doubled before the end of the season.

D.G.S. LILLOOET RETURNS TO PORT

Hydrographic Survey Party Completes Five Months' Work on B.C. Coast

Returning from nearly five months' work on the northern British Columbia Coast, the Dominion Government vessel Lillooet, carrying the hydrographic survey party, arrived back in port this morning.

H. D. Parizeau, officer in charge of Canadian hydrographic survey on the Pacific Coast, stated the vessel has accomplished considerable work during the Summer, having been favored with good weather for the greater part of the time.

The Lillooet left here May 31 and has been working most of the time in the neighborhood of Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands. Survey of the West Coast of Aristazebal Island was completed this Summer, Mr. Parizeau declared, as was also the survey of Porpoise Harbor.

The work of the Lillooet is especially valuable to mariners owing to her discoveries from time to time of uncharted rocks and reefs. An unknown rock in Esperanza Inlet was charted this trip.

The vessel was visited by the chief hydrographer from Ottawa just recently, and he was greatly pleased with the work being carried out.

The next task of the Lillooet will be the completion of the survey of False Creek, near Vancouver. She will leave here within the next few days for the Mainland, to accomplish this.

No Blame Laid On Master Or Crew For Charlotte Casualty

Mild Censure Will Meet All Requirements of Case, Report of Investigation Conducted Into Grounding of C.P.R. Vessel Shows; Dense Fog and Strong Tides Combined to Make Navigation Difficult, Causing Slight Error in Calculation

According to the finding of Wreck Commissioner Capt. J. D. Macpherson, approved by Capt. R. Balcom and Capt. M. F. Cutler, assessors, no blame can be attached to any member of the crew for the grounding of the Ss. Princess Charlotte on Vichnefski Rock, Sumner Strait, on August 30. The report of the investigation, issued to-day indicates that a mild censure on Capt. C. C. Sainty, master of the vessel, for a slight error in calculation would be the only result of the inquiry.

The report of the court with the explanation of its findings follow:

In the matter of a formal investigation held in the General Post Office Building, Victoria, B.C., September 19 and 20, 1927, before Captain John D. Macpherson, deputy to the Dominion Wreck Commissioner, assisted by Captain Reubn Balcom and Captain M. F. Cutler, as assessors, into the circumstances attending the stranding of the British steamship Princess Charlotte on Vichnefski Rock, Sumner Straits, Alaska, on the night of August 30, 1927.

REPORT OF COURT

The court having carefully inquired into the circumstances attending the above mentioned shipping casualty, and after weighing evidence of a very clear and convincing character throughout, finds for the reasons stated in the annex hereto that the cause of the vessel's stranding was due to a slight error of judgment on the part of her master, Claud Clifford Sainty, in his estimate of the vessel's position while in the near vicinity of Vichnefski Rock. Taking into consideration the dense fog at the time prevailing, the intricate channel in which the vessel was then in, and the strong tides, variable both in velocity and direction in that locality, the court is of the opinion that a mild censure will, in this instance, meet all the requirements of the case. The court therefore returns Mr. Claud Clifford Sainty his certificate as master of a foreign-going square rigged ship, No. 032219. No blame for the casualty, in the opinion of the court, can be attributed to Graham Otis Hughes, the officer of the watch, or to any other members of the vessel's crew.

Dated at Victoria, B.C., this twenty-third day of September, 1927.

JOHN D. MACPHERSON,
Deputy to the Dominion Wreck Commissioner.

We concur in the above report:
REUBN BALCOM,
M. F. CUTLER,
Assessors.

SS. PRINCESS CHARLOTTE

Annex to the Report

This investigation was held at the General Post Office, Victoria, B.C., September 19 and 20, 1927. D. E. McTaggert appearing for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild.

She is rigged as a fore-and-aft schooner and is of the following dimentions: 330 feet long, 46.7 feet beam and 23.7 feet deep, her gross tonnage being 3,844 tons and registered tonnage 1,999 tons. Her owners are the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, whose head office is in Montreal, and the vessel was built specially for the passenger and mail service in the British Columbian, Puget Sound and Alaskan waters. She is a magnificently well found and well equipped vessel in every detail, and eminently fitted for the business in which she is engaged. She is propelled by powerful triple expansion, twin-screw engines, designed to give the ship a speed of at least nineteen knots. She is provided also with steam

NIAGARA TAKES BIG SHIPMENT OF APPLES

Large Liner Has 15,500 Boxes of Okanagan Fruit For Southward Voyage

With a capacity cargo in her holds, including large shipments of British Columbia products, the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara, Capt. T. V. Hill, sailed from here last last night at 10 o'clock for Honolulu, Fiji, Australia and New Zealand.

The Niagara's freight consignment included 15,000 boxes of Okanagan apples, 8,000 bags of onions, 1,000 tons of canned salmon, box shooks, automobiles, and general. It was one of the largest shipments of apples to go to the Dominion "down Under" this year.

The passenger list of the vessel totaled 500 in all classes, among whom was Major-General John Paton, C.B., C.M.G., V.D., of Sydney, N.S.W., re-rope and the United States looking turning to his home after touring Europe after his diversified business interests.

General Paton was a notable figure in the late war and was credited with many distinguishing feats including the capture of a German gunboat—the Komet.

Having just completed a trip through Canada, General Paton was loud in his praise of this country.

"Canada is wonderful," he said. "Within a short time, instead of a population of nine or ten millions, Canada will have a population of fifty millions. Fancy, your wheat crop sixty-five bushels to the acre.

"Also think of the enormous natural resources of British Columbia; of the immense development that will come. Some day Vancouver will be a gigantic city with a gigantic population."

H. F. Alexander Remains Head of Coast Company

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—A goodwill luncheon at which business men and Chamber of Commerce members of San Francisco and Los Angeles pledged their co-operation was given here Tuesday aboard the liner City of Honolulu by the Los Angeles Steamship Company. The delegation from the south, headed by Mayor George E. Cryer of Los Angeles, arrived Monday on the vessel, used in the Honolulu service, and sailed from here for San Pedro. Co-operation and development of all of California was the prevailing sentiment of the meeting.

H. F. Alexander was re-elected president of the Pacific Steamship Company at a meeting of directors held in the local offices of the company. Other officers elected were R. Stanley Dollar, first vice-president; Herbert Fleishhacker and A. F. Haines, vice-presidents; E. H. Hall, treasurer, and J. H. Cooper, secretary. Francis Frink of Seattle was elected to a place on the directorate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Chester Thorne of Tacoma.

With Capt. A. B. Wilson temporarily in command, the Dollar round-the-world liner President Polk arrived here late Tuesday from the East coast. She will sail from here Friday.

Miss Theresa M. Siegel, dramatic reader and elocutionist, will give her recital, "The Fortune Hunter," in the Victoria West United Church, on Wednesday, November 2, at 8 o'clock. She will be assisted in the programme by several outstanding local artists, who will render vocal and instrumental solos. In commemoration of Trafalgar Day, whose anniversary falls to-morrow, the Ladies' Guild for Sailors will hold a tag day in aid of the Connaught Seamen's Institute on Saturday, when they hope the public will respond generously to this plea on behalf of the many seafaring men who annually visit this port. The Melrose Company has kindly loaned its store as headquarters for the day, and boxes and tags may be secured there on Friday from 4 till 6 p.m., or on Saturday morning from 8 o'clock onwards.

The lecture course now being given in Victoria High School is very interesting and instructive. Madame Sanderson-Mongin delighted her audience with the stories of leading events in French History; A. Sullivan spoke on "Transoceanic Flights," outlining the subject clearly and interesting his large audience to the end of the address. On Friday, October 21, in the High School at 8 o'clock, Prof. P. H. Elliott of Victoria College, will speak, taking for his subject, "How Science Has Aided International Friendship."

There is no excuse for the man who deliberately goes out and shoots game out of season and without a firearms license, and Magistrate Jay, expressing this sentiment, dealt with offenders under the Game Act in Provincial Police Court yesterday and Tuesday. Staff-Sergeant Butler prosecuted John Hill of Sidney yesterday for carrying firearms without a license, and the court fined him $10. Kakuno, a Cordova Bay Japanese, paid $10 for the same offence. J. S. Dick of Victoria was fined $10 for carrying a gun without a license and an additional $25 for having a hen pheasant in his possession out of season. A case against Leo Styan of Keating was adjourned. On Tuesday, it was, that Victor Bradley and Basil Harper of James Island had their guns confiscated and were fined $10 each for carrying arms without licenses.

The annual meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will be held during the third week in November, the board dealing with considerable business necessary to the work of the organization preparatory to the annual meeting. Inspector Allen reports the following inspections in his monthly report: Horses 6, cattle 2, dogs 6, poultry 8, cats 7, goats 2, misc. 1, wood yards, stables, storage houses, markets and sales have also been visited. Other matters attended to by the board included further reports on the question of dogs riding on motors; the killing of sea lions, improved condition of animals confined near Banff, reported by Dr. A. S. McNeil of Liverpool, England and the care of animals during wet and stormy weather. This latter discussion chiefly concerned the protection of goats which are particularly susceptible to damp weather. During the month a successful rummage sale had been held on behalf of the society's funds and thanks are due to all contributors and helpers. The society's inspector, G. Allen, phone 7619.

CABINET PLEASED BY WORK OF B.C. HOUSE IN LONDON

Pauline Tells Ministers How British Office Aids Development Here

Details of the work which B.C. House in London is doing for this Province were given to the Cabinet this morning by F. A. Pauline, B.C. Agent-General in Britain.

The Government's London office is producing really worthwhile results in directing the best kind of immigration and investment to this Province, Mr. Pauline told Premier MacLean and his Ministers. He cited concrete figures and cases to support his view that British Columbia is becoming more and more attractive to Britishers as a place in which to settle and invest their money.

"Mr. Pauline is doing splendid work for this Province in the Old Country," Dr. MacLean stated after hearing the Agent-General. "The information which he has brought back to the Province this year on the success of B.C. House has impressed the Government, and, I believe, the Province generally."

The Cabinet held its first formal meeting to-day for some time, following the return of Ministers from the Nelson by-election. Routine business in large volume was transacted.

New Wheat Shipping Record on Prairies

Vancouver, Oct. 20—What is claimed to be a new record for one day's marketing of wheat in the three prairie provinces on lines served by the Canadian Pacific Railway was made yesterday, when a total of 3,876,781 bushels was handled, according to information received here to-day by Charles Murphy, general manager of the western lines of the railway.

'WHY DOES A WIDOW?'

L. L. PHILLIPS
At Crystal Garden Friday Night

A pseudo widow with three suitors and an unfortunate sister who somehow fails to attract men are the central characters in a play of rare humor and witty dialogue. It is titled "Why Does a Widow?" and is to be presented as the weekly concert by the Co-optimist Comedy Company at the Crystal Garden to-morrow night. The three men in the case are of varied and interesting personality. Number one may be described as weak of heart but sound of income. Number two, strong of susceptibility but not over strong of brain. Number three inclines to be strong in ideas but not over nice in scruples. These roles will be portrayed by Mr. Legge-Willis, L. L. Phillips and Richard Blomfield. The ladies in the case will be enacted by Mrs. P. E. Corby, Miss Clare Vincent and Mrs. Legge-Willis.

Because of the increased attendance at these weekly plays it has been decided to place a limited number of reserved seats on sale. These can be obtained at the Crystal Garden box office to-day.

The Crystal Garden concert orchestra will also contribute several selections during the course of the evening and dancing will be continued after the performance as usual.

NEW RULE WILL LIMIT WORKING WOMEN'S DAY

Forty-eight Hours a Week Set as Maximum For Store Employees

Every woman working in the mercantile field in British Columbia will be protected by a new ruling of the Minimum Wage Board, which limits employment to forty-eight hours a week.

Until now no limit legal has been placed on the employmnt of women in stores throughout the Province, a condition which resulted fn the new rule. If a special permit is secured from the board the forty-eight hour period may be exceeded, but in all such cases women must be paid their regular wages for overtime.

WAGES UNCHANGED

No changes are made in existing wage scales in the mercantile field and all regulations except those governing working hours remain as before.

The new order followed an exhaustive investigation of working conditions in British Columbia stores by the board administering the law. It came to the conclusion that some 3,500 women in these businesses required further protection in working hours, but that no change in present legal wage scales was advisable.

Expert on Auction Bridge Will Give Demonstration Here

R. F. Foster, eminent authority on auction bridge, will arrive in the city shortly and will give a lecture in the Victorian restaurant of the Hudson's Bay Company on the afternoon of Monday, October 31.

In his lecture Mr. Foster will conduct a large class with each player playing his or her own hand according to Mr. Foster's directions, with reasons and explanations for each play.

Tickets for Mr. Foster's lecture can be obtained at the Hudson's Bay store.

NORTHERN TREK OF POPULATION TO B.C. STAGGERS COOLIDGE

Washington, D.C., Oct. 20.—"Keep Young America Home" is the battle cry which will be raised in Congress as a result of a sudden exodus of United States citizens to Western Canada. Stirred by reports that an enormous movement of young Americans to British Columbia will start late in October, the White House spokesman let it be known that President Coolidge viewed the situation with alarm, as he usually does most situations. He will recommend measures to Congress designed to halt this movement on the ground that it threatens western states with depopulation. "This," said the White House spokesman, "is the most serious situation which the United States Government has faced in a generation. The fact is British Columbia has put one over on us and how we can save ourselves the President doesn't know yet. And by the time he finds out it will be too late, as the Victoria Press Club Ball, on October 28, which is luring population northward, will be over by then. The gravity of this situation is the real reason why the President does not choose to run again next year."

Esquimalt Stresses Need of Industries

Industrial Development of Vancouver Island Keynote of Speeches by Leaders of Public Bodies at Sixth Annual Banquet of Esquimalt Board of Trade

Leaders of public bodies and organizations in Victoria and surrounding districts assembled at the sixth annual banquet of the Esquimalt Board of Trade held last evening in the hall of St. Paul's Church. The speeches on the industrial development of Vancouver Island expressed an optimistic outlook and a desire to co-operate for future growth.

The president, George Hutchinson, welcomed the guests and assured them that the interest shown by the attendance each year of so many from ouside the municipality was an encouragement to carry on their efforts to do useful work in the community.

R. H. Pooley said he was glad that Hon. F. A. Pauline had been able to be present, as he was British Columbia's business agent in the capital of the Empire; and helped to maintain the British connection we all desire to keep.

Esquimalt's harbor, he declared, was unsurpassed by any in British Columbia, and had many advantages to offer to industries. Noting the growth of Port Angeles, Tacoma and other cities on the American side, he wondered why there was not more rapid progress here. It was up to such organizations as the Chambers of Commerce and boards of trade to make a strong stand in this matter, and by so doing make British Columbia prosper.

AGENT-GENERAL

Hon. F. A. Pauline assured the gathering that he felt at home in Esquimalt, some of the happiest hours of his boyhood were spent in the very building where the assembly room had since been built. He was impressed with the progress made by Esquimalt in recent years. The greatest drydock in the British Empire had been completed. The toy manufacturing business, which was new, had grown very rapidly. He was confident that shipbuilding would become a great industry and provide employment for many in the future. In the last three weeks he had traveled 3,700 miles in the Province of British Columbia, and it had been an inspiration to see the abundance of resources. "We can look forward to very prosperous times," he said, "and everything that we in London can do to help will be done to the utmost of our ability."

REEVE ANSCOMB

Reeve Anscomb appealed to the boards of trade to take up development from a town-planning point of view. He said as soon as a town-planning law has been passed by the Legislature it had been adopted by Oak Bay. His message was that all the municipalities should unite in such planning, especially in regard to trunk roads, and declared it was necessary for all to get together in working out their problems. Referring to the fruit indusry in Saanich, he said that a comprehensive survey was desirable to find out why the loganberry cannot be marketed profitably. Victoria and Esqhimalt wanted industries. Oak Bay, he declared, wanted, not industries, but the residents the industries will bring.

R. W. MAYHEW

R. W. Mayhew, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, pleaded that more encouragement should be given to young men starting out in business and to small industries. He pointed to the accomplishments of the Canadian pioneer through sheer hard work and courageous effort, and gave an illustration from the experience of his own father in winning success, under diverse conditions on a small farm in the wilderness.

Rev. Father A. B. Wood, speaking on behalf of the Esquimalt Board of Trade, said there was plenty of evidence of the usefulness of the board of trade. In the last year it had been intrumental in maintaining the name Esquimalt for the new drydock. It had presented a convincing plea to the Dominion Government, that land on the waterport on Esquimalt Harbor, should be leased to industries, and it had been encouraged by an assurance that this request was considered reasonable. An official from the Department of National Defence had visited Esquimalt to consult with the board of trade on the question of establishing an air port. The board had directed the attention of the municipal council to the danger of losing access to the beaches, where so many of the children find enjoyment in the Summer. He appealed to the audience to support the board of trade and to make its sixth birthday a turning point in its career.

C. H. O'Halloran offered his congratulations to the board of trade, declaring that if its only accomplishment in the year had been the bringing together of such a representative gathering to work for the southern end of Vancouver Island it could claim success. He said that the great development which was in progress in Vancouver was due to the confidence of her own people. If the people of Victoria had faith and could realize the opportunities which lay at their door they would invest their money at home. For years a road to the west coast had been talked about, it will now soon become an accomplished fact, and lead to the development, among others, of a beach situate there, which stretches for over thirty miles and where the water is warm and suitable for bathing. The natural resources of Vancouver Island which await development are enormous and would bring great prosperity in the future.

Mrs. A. Monteith extended greetings from the Victoria West Brotherhood, of which she is secretary. She congratulated the board of trade on the fine banquet they had arranged and on the splendid support they had received. She urged the members to go on fighting for everything they felt was for the good of their community.

M. J. Bruce of the Saanich Board of Trade, said Esquimalt was better known than Victoria in England, and had fame as a naval base before Victoria existed. He asked the assistance of Mr. Pauline to finding a favorable market for loganberry products in the Old Country, and recalled the country shown to him by Mr. Pauline and staff on his visit to London.

G. A. Cochran of the Sydney Board of Trade, also congratulated the Esquimalt board and extended the greetings of his organization.

In the absence through illness of Mrs. Booth, president, the Esquimalt Women's Institute, was represented by Mrs. Brooker, vice-president.

Captain R. P. Matheson, secretary of the Esquimalt board thanked Mr. Pauline, the delegates and the artistes for making the banquet a success. He declared that the Esquimalt Board of Trade would continue its efforts to promote development by Canadian and British interests. It was a mistake, he maintained, to place too much confidence in the American tourist and in the American branch factory. It was foolish to forget that American branches came in to secure the Canadian market and Empire tariff preferences, he said. The cities of British Columbia should grow as the cities farther outh had done by taking advantage of their opportunities in Pacific trade and by using their resources for the benefit of their own citizens.

During the banquet a birthday cake decorated and bearing the inscription "Esquimalt Board of Trade's Sixth Anniversary," was cut by Mrs. Monteith. Grace was pronounced by Rev. W. J. Kelly and the toast of the evening "The King" was given by R. J. Wood, vice-president.

A very enjoyable musical programme had been arranged.

Miss Eva Hart, who was accompanied in her vocal solos by Ira Dilworth, received an ovation, and songs by Mrs. W. Petrie and Harry Craven were enthusiastically encored, as was the violin solo of Master George Tate.

F. Morgan played the accompaniment for these artistes.

EXPECTS TOLMIE TO RUN IN SAANICH AT GENERAL ELECTION

Tory Leader Should Run For Legislature, Whittaker Declares

Neglecting Duty in Remaining Out of House, He Tells Liberals

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative Party leader, probably will select Saanich as a constituency to run in at the next provincial election. N. W. Whittaker, Liberal candidate in the Saanich riding, declared at a card party and dance of Ward Seven, Saanich Liberals, in the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club last night.

He criticized Dr. Tolmie for endeavoring to act as leader of the Conservative Party and at the same time represent the people of Victoria in the Dominion House. It was now a year since the Conservative convention at Kamloops, when Dr. Tolmie was appointed leader of the Conservative Party, he said. One session of the Legislature had been held since then, and the responsibility of leading the opposition in the Legislature fell upon the shoulders of R. H. Pooley.

Another session would shortly be held, and the indications were that Mr. Pooley would again be leader of the opposition. It would not be fair to criticize, the speaker said, if Dr. Tolmie had not had several opportunities of contesting by-elections. The first opportunity was at North Okanagan, and the next at New Westminster. According to press reports, Dr. Tolmie said recently at Nelson, speaking to a body of Conservatives there, that, although invited to run at New Westminster, he had thought that New Westminster, being a Liberal stronghold, was a hard nut to crack, and in view of the result of the by-election, rather prided himself on his judgment on not running there.

A DIFFERENT COURSE

Mr. Whittaker pointed out that the late leader of the Liberal Party, the Hon. John Oliver, had taken a different course when defeated in Victoria in the election of 1924. He had immediately been offered an opportunity of contesting the Nelson seat, and had at once accepted the invitation, and was successful in the by-election that followed.

Conservative speakers during the past few months had endeavored to give the impression that conditions were not as they should be in the Province of British Columbia, and they had tried to fasten the responsibility upon the Liberal administration. Dr. Tolmie, speaking at the Conservative picnic in Saanich recently, had said that there was something wrong with the Province, and that the people were not getting a sufficient return from their immense natural resources. He said he did not know just what was wrong, but that if his party was returned to power he would appoint a commission to find out what was wrong, and suggest a remedy.

Mr. Whittaker claims that if things were not as they should be it was the duty of the leaders of any political party to find out what was wrong, and to suggest a remedy, and that if the Conservatives should be returned to power and this pre-election promise of the leader of the Conservative Party should be carried out, the people would be in the position of paying commissions for doing the work which their elected representatives should do.

PROSPERITY GROWS

As a matter of fact, the speaker went on, the Province had greatly increased in prosperity during the ten years of Liberal administration from 1916 to 1926. Agricultural production had more than doubled during that time; lumbering production had increased 138 per cent; pulp production 368 per cent; mining production 58.9 per cent; fushing production 88.95 per cent.

The total production from the basic industries of the Province in the year 1926 was approximately $126,180,000.00 more than in the year 1916, an increase of 101.3 per cent, he said. Added to this was the fact that British Columbia ranks third as a manufacturing province in the Dominion of Canada. Mr. Whittaker said that a large part of this increased production was due to the initiative and energy of the people of the Province; but that it was equally true that the business-like methods and efficiency of the Liberal Government during the period in question was in a great measure responsible.

BY-ELECTION RESULTS

During the past year three by-elections had been held in the Province, two of which had been won by the Liberal candidates. This showed that the voters of these constituencies had confidence in the Liberal administration and in the new leader of the party, Hon. J. D. MacLean.

"Dr. MacLean is a man of the people," the speaker said, "and has risen through his own unaided efforts to the position he now occupies. When he was elected in 1916 the late Premier Brewster included him in his Cabinet. Dr. MacLean is a testimonial of the late Mr. Brewster's knowledge of character and of men.

"He has held among other positions, the important portfolios of Minister of Education, Finance Minister, until today he occupies the highest executive position it is within the power of the Province to bestow. He is a man of great ability and unswerving honesty. I believe that if the Liberal Party is returned to power this Province will continue to prosper and progress under the wise guidance and statesmanlike leadership of Dr. MacLean."

The function was attended by over a hundred people, who all gave evidence of having an enjoyable evening. Prizes were won as follows: Ladies, first, Mrs. Byng; second, Mrs. Rodwell; consolation, Mrs. Leggatt. Gentlemen, first, Mr. J. Smart; second, Mr. J. Waterston; consolation, Mr. W. Washington. Tombola, Mrs. Foster.

President Arnup acted as an efficient master of ceremonies, and thanks are due to the Misses Arnup, Pass and Foster for providing music for the dancing, and to the ladies' committee for the excellent refreshments which were served.

URGES PARENTS TO ASSIST TEACHERS

Victoria Speaker Gives Address to Sidney Association

Sidney, Oct. 20.—An extremely interesting and instructive hour and a half was spent at the schoolroom on Tuesday, October 18, when members and friends of the Parent-Teacher Association met to listen to Major Clark of Victoria. The lecturer gave a short address on the aims and objects of the Parent-Teacher Association. He emphasized that an amount of useful work could be accomplished when the teachers had the co-operation of the parents, and when all worked together for the good of the school. He cited quite a number of projects that could be accomplished with the unanimous support of the parents, and left with the president, Mrs. Gilman, some suggestions for activities that the society might engage in. Major Clark then gave a number of interesting scenes on the screen, depicting trips through the Okanagan Valley and district, showing the vast difference after the scheme of irrigation had been carried out. The pictures were made very attractive by the explanation given by Major Clark. A hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. Ramsay on behalf of the Parent-Teacher Association to Major Clark and seconded by Miss Stott. A short business meeting was then held and suggestions were made for the costumes to be used at the forthcoming children's play and concert. The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

The ladies of the St. Elizabeth's Church are making final arrangements for the card social to be held Tuesday, October 25, in Berquist Hall, Sidney. Military five hundred will be played, and those intending to play are asked to be at their tables at 8.15 o'clock. There will be three tables of prizes given for the largest number of flags held. In addition to the winning tables at cards a number of special prizes and tombola prizes will be given. Refreshments will be served, and are included in the admission fee. A good orchestra will be in attendance for the dance, which will be held after cards and several other attractions will be provided.

Search Made For Two Aviators of U.S. in Nicaragua

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 20.—Aeroplane patrols have been sent to the department of Neuva Segovia in an effort to find the United States Marine Corps aviators, Lieut. A. E. Thomas and Sergeant Frank Dowdell. A detachment of Marines and the National Guard is scouring the country where the men's plane crashed several weeks ago, but no trace of the missing aviators has been found.

A Nicaraguan peon who returned from Jicaro to-day declared he had seen the aeroplane crash. The two aviators, he said, had dismantled their machine gun and with it in their possession had taken refuge in a shack. Surrounded by bandits, the aviators had fought until the shack was blown up with dynamite.

There is no confirmation of this report and it is hardly thought probable.

LONDON PREPARES FOR STATE VISIT OF RULER OF AFGHANS

Ameer to Make Tour to Add to His Knowledge of Western Civilization

Will be Guest of King and Queen at Buckingham Palace

London, Oct. 20.—British officials charged with the delicate task of entertaining foreign potentates are all aflutter over the forthcoming state visit to London of King Amanuellah Khan, Ameer of Afghanistan. This ruler's visit is fraught with both political and social problems and every precaution is being taken to make his stay a pleasant one.

The only other royal personage from that wild mountainous country in Central Asia who ever saw the sights of London was Prince Mazerullah, brother of the ruler at that time. He came to London thirty-five years ago and those Londoners who remember the occasion still talk about it.

CUSTOMS MIXED

Prince Mazerullah mixed the odd customs of Oriental courts with the amenities of Western civilization and he led the young bloods of London a merry chase.

He and his colorful entourage lived at Dorchester House, one of the most palatial mansions in London. There the Afghans killed their sheep, roasted their oxen and prepared great Oriental feasts that made the whole fashionable Park Lane district reek with the pungent odors of Afghan cookery. When the visit ended Dorchester House was a sorry sight.

Prince Mazerullah had a gay time in London and then went back to the snows of Kabul and became violently anti-British.

The visit of the present ruler, expected in December, will be of a different character, however, and it is hoped it will have a different result.

GUEST AT PALACE

The King will be the guest of the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace for three days, and as the main purpose of his European tour is to observe Western civilization, an effort will be made to show him Great Britain at its best. He is thirty-six years old, of clean-cut appearance and serious-minded.

Although Afghanistan is one of the most isolated nations in the world, it has great political importance to Great Britain as a buffer state between the Indian Empire and Soviet Russia. Afghanistan is also rich in undeveloped natural resources and half a dozen nations are engaged in a scramble for the chance to develop them.

Two hundred delegates, representing seventy-four churches, were present, including a number of young women. Although these churches were represented, it was not definitely ascertained they were all committed to the new convention.

ECHOES OF PAMPHLET RUM CASE ARE HEARD

Objections to Government Libel Action on Schooner Pescawha Heard

Portland, Ore., Oct. 20.—Argument was heard Tuesday by Federal Judge Bean upon objections filed to the government libel of the gasoline auxiliary schooner Pescawha, famous for her alleged rum-running history on the West Coast.

The ship was seized in February, 1925, off the Columbia River after her skipper, Capt. Robert Pamphlet, and his crew had rescued part of the crew of the wrecked lumber schooner Caoba. The seizure led to the largest liquor conspiracy case tried in this district, and to the conviction of twelve defendants, including Capt. Pamphlet. The ship is now tied up at a local dock where she had been berthed since her seizure. The government filed the libel under the Customs and Tariff Acts, and was opposed on the ground the vessel was beyond jurisdiction of these acts when seized, the schooner having been chased many miles to sea by the United States coastguard cutter Algonquin.

Capt. Pamphlet has filed a claim for the cargo, 1,050 cases of bonded liquor. The Western Freighters Limited seek return of the ship.

The conviction of the twelve defendants is still on appeal, having been affirmed by the circuit court of appeals and then carried to the United States supreme court, where it now lies.

Patients will be taken from all parts of the province.

Bandits in Train Murdered a Man

Spokane, Oct. 20.—Victor Holm, aged forty-five, a mill and mine worker of this city, died here yesterday of a bullet wound in his abdomen shortly after arriving from Rexford, Montana. He telephoned the Great Northern Railway physician here Tuesday night from Rexford, saying he had been attacked and shot by box car bandits and asked that an ambulance meet the train here. He was so weak when he arrived here that he was unable to give the particulars of the attack.

Libby, Mont., Oct. 20.—Victor Holm was thrown from a Great Northern freight train at Rexford, in Northern Montana, Tuesday night after having been shot through the stomach by two men who attacked him and his partner in a box car. Holm's partner was beaten over the head with a pistol.

Holm was found in the railroad yards after the train had left, and was sent to Spokane on a passenger train yesterday morning. Five men were taken from the freight train at Troy, Montana, and held for investigation, and three others were arrested here yesterday. Two men who left Rexford in an automobile last night were sought.

Dinner—Veal stew with dumplings, carrot straws, tomato and pepper salad, prune souffle, milk and coffee.

Rice and Apple Pudding

Five tart apples, 8 tablespoons rice, 2 cups milk, 3 eggs, ¾ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup seeded raisins, currant jelly, 4 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Wash rice through many waters and slowly add 2 cups of slightly salted, rapidly boiling water. Cook twenty minutes. Let water cook away. Beat two whole eggs and one yolk until light with sugar. Beat in milk and flavoring and add to rice. Stir until well mixed and add raisins. Pare apples and remove core from stem end, taking care not to break the fruit nor cut through the blossom end. Arrange apples in a buttered baking dish and pour rice custard around but not covering the apples. Bake in a moderate oven until the apples are tender and rice is firm to the touch. Remove from oven and fill cavities with currant jelly. Cover with meringue made with remaining white of egg beaten until stiff and dry with the powdered sugar folded in after beating. Bake in a slow oven to puff and brown meringue. Serve warm or cold or with whipped cream.

Eats Sauerkraut Now, Feels Years Younger

"I couldn't find a thing to eat that would agree with my stomach. Even rice turned sour and caused stomach gas. An insurance man recommended Adlerika. I didn't have much hope of getting any relief for I had tried so many things. But the results I got from even the first bottle surprised me! Now I eat even sauerkraut and sausage without any bad effects. I sleep good and feel 10 years younger, I do my housework with ease again and find great pleasure in other work, too."—Mrs. M. L. Davis.

As gently and naturally as taking a drink of water, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowels, bringing quick relief from gas bloating, intestinal stasis and chronic constipation.

The very FIRST dose of Adlerika often brings out astonishing amounts of old waste matter from the intestinal canal. This poisonous matter may have been in the intestines a long time, causing gas, headache, sleeplessness and many other symptoms. A treatment of just a FEW weeks with Adlerika often brings great permanent improvement in cases of so-called stomach trouble.

Dr. H. Louis Shoub, New York, states: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing action, tends to check the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. J. Lancaster, a physician of over a quarter century's experience, says: "In the treatment of gastro-intestinal disorders, Adlerika has no equal."

J. E. Puckett, writes: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for twenty years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. Carl Weschcke, graduate of Heidelberg University, Germany, first perfected Adlerika. It is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser known to science with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements.

Many physicians recognize Adlerika as the one dependable remedy for gas, intestinal stasis and chronic constipation. Unlike most medicines it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel.

Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika may bring out poisonous, gas-forming matter which you would never believe was in your system.

No matter what you have tried for the bowels and stomach, Adlerika will surprise you.

A Game of Life and Death for Stolen French Air Plans

In the town of Lugano, Switzerland, two interned French officers had prepared diagrams of an aeroplane that they believed would give France and her allies mastery of the air. Mysteriously these had disappeared from their hiding-place behind a picture frame, and as mysteriously reappeared. When the officers told their story to Charles Lucieto, famous French operative, his suspicion was fastened upon Irma Staub, declared by him to be "the most dangerous spy of modern times," and the mysterious Count Tirlemont.

NO BLAME LAID ON MASTER OR CREW FOR CHARLOTTE DISASTER

steering gear, six watertight bulkheads and a double bottom, in a portion of which she carries her oil fuel. She carries ten boats with their necessary equipment, and an ample supply of life belts, life buoys and rafts, more than sufficient for the number of people that she is licensed to carry. She has on board four compasses, which were last adjusted at Victoria in April, 1919, by Captain Williamson, compass adjuster, of Vancouver, B.C.

377 ON BOARD

At the time of the casualty she was manned by a crew of 108 hands all told, and had in addition 269 passengers on board, which made a total of 377 lives involved in the casualty.

From the evidence it appeared that the Princess Charlotte left Skagway, Alaska, for Vancouver, via way ports, on the evening of August 29. She had on board a small cargo of general merchandise, estimated at sixty-one tons, none of which appears to have been of a nature that would affect her compasses.

She in due time arrived at Juneau, her first port of all, without incident. From Juneau she proceeded to Wrangel, via Chatham and Summer Straits, this route being taken due to Wrangel Narrows being temporarily closed to the nevigation of the larger vessels.

From the evidence it appears that the weather conditions, after leaving Juneau, were fine, but cloudy and overcast, until Cape Decision was rounded, from which point to the scene of the casualty, Vichnefski Rock—a distance of 52½ miles—dense fog was encountered which continued for some hours after the vessel stranded.

GOOD LOOKOUT

The master, Claude Clifford Sainty, kept his vessel steaming at an estimated speed of fifteen knots, with the engine room telegraphs at "stand by," a good and efficient lookout was placed, and the whistle was kept blowing both for the ordinary sound signals and for the purpose of obtaining an echo off the land on either side, by which last means the various courses of the vessel was directed and guided.

Though there can be no doubt but that the vessel was steaming at a high rate of speed, whilst enveloped in a dense fog, the court cannot but feel that the master was, to a great extent, justified in so doing; there were no anchorage available to which he could go. Soundings would not have been of the slightest use and, apart from small gasoline boats, it was known that no other vessel was in the near vicinity.

UNDER PERFECT CONTROL

From Cape Decision, which was rounded at 5.9 p.m., to Colpoys Point, a distance of forty-seven miles, between which places many courses were steered and points rounded and passed, the vessel average 15.1 knots, and there can be little doubt but that the vessel was under perfect control, and her position correctly estimated and verified by no other means, due to the dense fog, than speed, course, time and echoes.

Point Colpoys was estimated to be abeam at 8.15 p.m., and a good and proper course N.E. by E.½ E. was set for a position off Vichnefski Rock. The distance between these two last named places is 7¼ miles, and at 8.40 p.m., when his vessel must have been very close to Vichnefski Rock the master, C. C. Sainty, stopped his vessel for the first time since rounding Cape Decision, for a period of three minutes, after which he want slow for eleven minutes, and again stopped for four minutes; went slow ahead again for twelve minutes, when he rang full speed at 9.19 p.m., altering his course at the same time to N.E. by N., apparently being assured by the echoes that he had passed Vichnefski Rock. Six minutes after altering his course, that is at 9.10 p.m. now not only dense fog but intensely dark, the vessel stranded on what afterwards proved to be Vichnefski Rock.

MISLED BY ECHOES

There can be no doubt, in the court's opinion, that the master, C. C. Sainty, committed an error of judgment, misled by the echoes he received, in altering his course at 9.10 p.m. Had he kept on his original course only one minute longer, during which time his vessed, steaming at fiteen knots per hour, would have traveled 1,521 feet, or five times her own length, it is more than probable the casualty would have been avoided. It was, however, an error of judgment that in the court's opinion, taking all the circumstances of the case into consideration, the darkness, the dense fog, the intricate and dangerous channel in which the vessel was then in, and the strong tides at the time then running, calls in justice for little else than a mild censure.

After the vessel stranded the evidence disclosed that everything it was possible to do for the preservation of life and property appears to have been done. Wireless messages were sent, the boats were swung out, soundings taken, and a thorough examination made of the different holds and the tank tops, the latter by the chief engineer of the vessel and his staff, who appeared to be satisfied that the vessel was not making any water. The vessel apparently stranded about an hours before low water, and when the flood tide made, efforts were made by movements of the engines to float her, and at 0.39 a.m., of the 31st of August, after being fast on the rocks, since 9.16 p.m. the previous evening. The efforts were successful and the vessel floated.

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT

Shortly after floating the engine room staff realized through a deficiency of steam that the vessel's bottom, more especially where her oil fuel was carried, must have been punctured, so much so that not only was there a great loss of oil fuel, but what remained was so mixed up while in contact with sea water as to render it practically useless for fuel purposes, the result being that the Princess Charlotte, now afloat, with her engines and boilers undamaged, and her tank tops intact, was drifting helplessly, unable to raise sufficient steam for propulsion purposes. The chief engineer, Robert Moffatt, and his staff were, however, enabled by careful management of what remained of the oil fuel, and by burning all the wood that could be collected to raise sufficient steam to enable them to use the steering gear, run the electric lights, and heat the vessel.

The Princess Charlotte was then taken in tow by four gasoline boats that fortunately happened to be in the vicinity, and she slowly proceeded in this manner to Wrangell, twenty-one miles distant.

PASSENGERS TRANSFERRED

At daylight the master, C. C. Sainty, transferred all the passengers by motor boats to the United States steamship Explorer, which vessel had come to the Princess Charlotte's assistance in answer to the latter's wireless calls, and were all taken to Wrangell by that vessel. On the arrival of the Princess Charlotte under tow at Wrangell some time later, and when safely moored alongside the wharf at Wrangell, she re-embarked all her passengers, for though disabled and unable to steam she was still able to supply all the other comforts and facilities for the use and convenience of her passengers.

Later, the management of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company sent one of their fine large passenger vessels to Wrangell, which vessel, after embarking all the Princess Charlotte's passengers and took them to Vancouver, at which place they later arrived without further incident. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company later sent the Pacific Salvage steamship Salvage King to Wrangell, by which powerful vessel the Princess Charlotte was towed to the Esquimalt dry dock, where she eventually arrived and safely docked.

QUESTIONS SUBMITTED

At the conclusion of the evidence the following questions were submitted for the opinion of the court by George Simpson on behalf of the Department of Marine at Ottawa.

1. What number of compasses had the vessel? When were they last adjusted? Were they in good order and sufficient for the safe navigation of the vessel?

2. Did the master ascertain the deviation of his compasses by observation from time to time; were the errors correctly ascertained and the proper corrections to the courses applied?

3. Were safe and proper measures taken to check the ship's position after leaving Cape Decision? Was a safe and proper course set and thereafter steered, and was due and proper allowance made for tide, currents, etc., having in view the weather conditions which existed?

4. Was the ship navigated with proper and seamanlike care?

5. What was the cause of the vessel stranding?

6. Was the stranding of the Ss. Princess Charlotte caused through the wrongful act or default of the master, second officer or other member of the crew of the Ss. Princess Charlotte or any one or more of them, and, if so, which of them?

D. E. McTaggert, on behalf of his clients, then addressed the Court.

ANSWERS

With regard to the questions submitted to it by the Department of Marine, the Court gives the answers appended:

1. The vessel had four compasses, which were last adjusted in April, 1919. They were in excellent order, and by the deviation book rarely showed an error of over one degree. They were certainly more than sufficient for the navigation of the vessel.

2. The atmospheric conditions prevailing after the vessel left Skagway were such that neither stellar nor solar observations were obtainable. Proper corrections, when any, were applied to the various courses steered.

3. After rounding Cape Decision, owing to the dense fog, there was no possibility of checking ship's position otherwise than by sound, time and speed.

4. Yes.

5. An error of judgment on the part of the master in altering the vessel's course a little too soon, misled by the echoes received from both sides of the channel.

6. No wrongful act or default can be attributed to the master, officers or other members of the crew.

JOHN FORD—John Ford, sixty-three, brother of Henry Ford, was found dead of heart disease in a vacant home at Fordson, a suburb of Detroit, Mich. PILES

Go Quickly Without Cutting or Using Messy Salves

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in hundreds of cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co., to-day. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and must do the same for you or money back. (Advt.)

Wanted! 25,000 Sufferers from

DEAFNESS

Head Noises from Ear Tubal Catarrh—or Nasal Catarrh Only

Startling Free Offer!

This announcement is being published in order to secure the names of 25,000 people who are suffering from catarrhal deafness, dullness of hearing, head noises or ordinary nasal catarrh. To everyone so afflicted, a wonderful home treatment, originated by Dr. W. O. Coffee, the nationally known Davenport specialist, will be sent to try without obligation or expense.

Dr. Coffee, himself, suffered for many years from ear tubal catarrh, deafness and head noises. He tried many different treatments which failed to give permanent relief. Then he began experimenting on himself and finally developed a method which completely healed his ear tubal catarrh, restored his hearing and stopped the distressing head noises.

You can test this remarkable treatment, originated by the doctor and since then used with such astounding success by thousands of people afflicted with these troubles. Coupon brings free trial without the slightest cost. Mail it today.

MISS I. Rogers, of Nebraska, whose picture is shown above, is enthusiastic in her praise of Dr. Coffee's Original Method. From the age of twelve years, her hearing was affected. There was dullness and some slight head noises first in her right ear and a little later in the left ear. Gradually, it grew worse and at eighteen her deafness was so pronounced that it handicapped her at school. Various treatments were tried but they did not help. At twenty-three, Miss Rogers could hear nothing unless shouted. Severe head noises also bothered her. Today, she hears ordinary conversation without difficulty. Here's what she says: "I really think Dr. Coffee's treatment is the only practical one to use at home for deafness from catarrhal condition or infections. I do not healtate to recommend it to all sufferers from deafness and head noises whose cases are similar to what mine formerly was."

Don't Neglect These Troubles!

Deafness, Ear Tubal Catarrh, Head Noises, and Nasal Catarrh generally grow worse when neglected. Authorities claim that ninety per cent of all deafness is primarily caused by catarrh of the head and air passages. Others state that nasal catarrh often causes indigestion, rheumatism, catarrh of the stomach, and many other diseased conditions, If you suffer from dullness of hearing or nasal catarrh, do not neglect this condition.

There are thousands, who are now practically stone deaf, whose hearing could no doubt have been saved had the right measures been taken in time. Dr. Coffee restored hearing in hundreds of cases, where the patients were so deaf they could hear nothing. Of course, those were cases which, in spite of their severity, fortunately had not advanced to the stage that the actual tissues or nerves had become affected. Just remember this—you can prove the value of his treatment entirely without risk or expense. It will come to you absolutely free. Just fill out and mail the coupon.

FREE

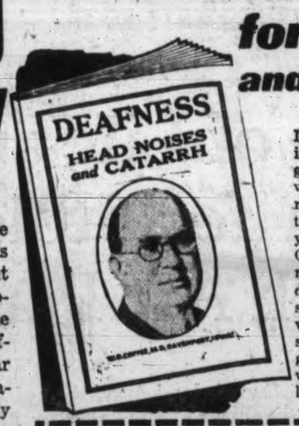
25,000 Treatments Given This Month

Naturally, the doctor was proud of the results reported by so many thousands of sufferers who have used his simple home treatment. It was really his idea that these 25,000 demonstration treatments be prepared and sent absolutely free to all who answer this offer within the next 30 days. This liberal plan should convince you that Dr. Coffee's Original Home Treatment will give you relief from catarrhal deafness, dullness of hearing, head noises and also nasal catarrh. The results are quick and convincing. You feel the difference the first day. Try it. This treatment costs you nothing whatever. Simply send coupon or write and say you are suffering from deafness or head noises or catarrh. You will receive a free treatment which, according to Dr. Coffee, is the best treatment he ever found in his 45 years' practice as a specialist. Every sufferer should take advantage of this offer. The demonstration treatment is FREE.

DONT SEND ONE PENNY

You are not asked to send one penny for this treatment. It is sent free to you prepaid without cost. This is done to quickly introduce Dr. Coffee's original home treatment to sufferers of deafness, or head noises, or from ear tubal catarrh or from nasal catarrh itself. Dr. Coffee probably treated more cases of deafness, head noises and catarrh than any physician in the United States. He considered this treatment the best he has ever used. The fact that it cleared his own case and restored his hearing to normal, after the condition had grown really acute, gave him absolute confidence in it. Then, too, he witnessed what it has done for hundreds of sufferers. Send your name and address today. State whether you have deafness or head noises or just have catarrh. This notice may not appear again so mail the coupon at once.

Mail Coupon Today for This Book and Treatment



You will be keenly interested in Dr. Coffee's Book on Deafness. In it, he describes in plain, simple language the symptoms of the many various types of deafness. From reading it, you should be able to determine something of the nature of your own trouble. Bear in mind, Dr. Coffee's treatment is not recommended for those who are totally deaf from disease of any kind, from shock, or, in fact, from any cause whatever. In fact, his book frankly states so. Mail coupon today and get the Free Book and Treatment without obligation or cost. Offer is limited—Act!

Hearing Restored at 80 Years

At eighty years of age, D. B. Simmons, of Maine, ascribed partial deafness with which he was afflicted to his advanced years. Developing severe head noises, however, he determined to seek relief from Dr. Coffee of whose success with similar cases he had heard. "I am glad to be able to tell you," he writes, "that after using your treatment as prescribed, the head noises left me entirely and I am rid of the deafness besides. Can hear as well as ever."

Hearing Restored at 86

"I had suffered with nasal catarrh for seven or eight years; I had terrible head noises, my hearing was bad. It was necessary for people to talk loud, otherwise I could not hear them. I used Dr. Coffee's home treatment for four months, and it restored my hearing to such an extent that I can now take part in an ordinary conversation. The head noises are a thing of the past. I am 86 years old."

J. C. Patterson, Indiana.

Head Noises Disappear

With Mrs. Reed Page, of N. Y., Dr. Coffee's home treatment quickly relieved a serious and rapidly developing case of deafness and head noises. From normal hearing, in scarcely four years, Mrs. Page became quite deaf. People had to shout close to her ears for her to understand them. Now she writes, "I am happy to tell you how good I feel and how much improved I am. Can hear everything, and the head noises are gone entirely."

After 10 Years' Suffering

"My hearing is now even better than when I was a boy," writes Peter Storm of Iowa. Gradually but surely growing deaf over a period of nearly ten years, Mr. Storm became afflicted with severe head noises which alarmed him greatly. Much to his amazement and when he had practically given up hope of regaining his hearing, Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment relieved him within two months.

Freed After 48 Years

"I had been gradually growing deaf for 48 years. I had not been able to hear over a telephone for 17 years. Naturally I was discouraged for I had tried everything and found no relief. Dr. Coffee's treatment restored my hearing so I could hear over a telephone in either ear, quite plainly. I no longer suffer with intense head noises."

Mrs. M. Sherier, Missouri.

Acute Deafness Soon Ended

The remarkable case and glowing testimonial letter of Mrs. Mona McBride, of Illinois, show what this treatment can accomplish. From childhood, Mrs. McBride's hearing was affected, the result of serious illness. Her story is the most convincing proof of the merits of Dr. Coffee's Home treatment. Mrs. McBride writes: "Upon trying Dr. Coffee's method, the hearing in my ear which had been practically deaf for nearly 20 years has returned. I did not believe it possible." Two weeks was all it required to show astonishing results. From that time on her hearing steadily improved, much to both patient's and physician's delight.

Restored Hearing in Month

George Bishop, a native of Saskatchewan, tells how he suffered for 12 years and spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief to no avail. Read what he says of Dr. Coffee's Home Treatment—how his hearing has improved and the head noises disappeared as a result of this simple method: "My hearing grew so bad that people had to shout into my ear for me to understand. Dr. Coffee's Treatment helped me greatly in one month. It is wonderful."

AT THE THEATRES

"IS ZAT SO" FOX PRODUCTION COMES TO COLUMBIA THEATRE

"The funny man with the little stick" is an apt description of Alfred E. Green, Fox Films director, who is responsible for the screen version of "Is Zat So?" in which Edmund Lowe and George O'Brien are featured, and which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre.

Green, who has been called the most unassuming director in the motion picture industry, is never without a stick of some variety. One day, it may be a bit of pine, picked up at random, or seized on the run as Green breezes through the huge carpenter shop at the West Coast Studio. Another day, it is the last word in canes—borrowed from some actor, or lifted from the hall tree in the Green home. At odd moments, it is spare bow, minus catgut, purloined from some set musician.

Always, however, the director glides around the set, exploring things and poking away at something or somebody with his improvised wand.

PICTURE-MAKERS WORK WHERE GOLD SEEKERS TOILED

Seventy miles from Sutter's Creek where California gold was discovered in 1849 there are still prospectors struggling through the forests with burros and on foot seeking the yellow metal. For some of them it is almost as risky as in the early days of the famous "rush" as large tracts are owned by big mining companies and they treat trespassers roughly.

Rumors of rich finds still persist.

Recently, Richard Dix and Mary Brian with a cast of players and technical assistants went into the Sierra Nevada Mountains to make scene at the Melone Dam for Dix's new Paramount production, "Man Power," which shows at the Capitol to-day. The dam is only a few miles from the deserted village.

When the "Man Power" company reached the dam, workmen told of having found nuggets during the blasting operations. Some of the rock really does show golden sparkles but only in minute quantities. During the five days that the company worked below the dam along the Stanislaus River there was hardly a person who could not be seen examing the rocks from time to time.

INIMITABLE CHAPLIN BACK ON SCREEN IN UNIQUE COMIC FILM

Though a new note is sounded in the showing of Charlie Chaplin's new nine-reel comedy feature photoplay, "The Gold Rush," described as the greatest of all Chaplin comedies—the public will see also all the Chaplin tricks that have put this picture star in a class entirely by himself.

"The Gold Rush," a United Artists Corporation release, which is scheduled as the feature attraction for the Coliseum Theatre, is described by those who have seen it as far and away the best piece of work Chaplin has ever done; and by far, the funniest.

It also presents a biographic symbolization of the real Charlie Chaplin, his life from the days of an unknown to the best known man in the world is portrayed between a range of deep pathos and hilarious comedy against a background of hardships as one of the gold seekers in the early stampede days in the frozen wastes of Alaska.

A new note in comedy dramatics is sounded; an advanced departure in character portrayal and delineation is revealed with Chaplin in "The Gold Rush." But, in addition, there is the Charlie of old—the Charlie of the little derby, the trick cane, the baggy trousers, the little mustache, the sloppy shoes and the funny walk. All of Chaplin, and a lot more, is to be found in this new picture.

YOUTHFUL STUDENT BRINGS BLUSHES TO LEWIS STONE'S FACE

Peggy Lewis as a Bowery kid, has a real hit in her duet with Will Marshall called "Down by the Vinegar Woiks" in this week's stage attraction at the Playhouse, "Hits and Bits From Everywhere."

College rooting from the sidelines of a motion picture scene might bother some film actors, but it did not alarm Lewis Stone!

The test occurred when Joseph Henaberry, directing "Lonesome Ladies," the First National picture now playing at the Playhouse Theatre, was filming a location scene in front of an apartment house near the University of Southern California.

Stone, who is co-featured with Anna Q. Nilsson in the cast, had the scene with Jane Winton, the alluring vamp of the film. A group of nearly 100 college students came to watch, and during the filming of the scene a yell leader improvised a series of yells and cheers for Stone!

He went through his scene without a quiver of facial muscles to indicate that he had heard. Just after the scene, however, a single remark registered quite plainly on him. He blushed! The remark was made by a fair co-ed, who said:

"Oh, isn't he fatally attractive!"

MASTERFUL JUNGLE PRODUCTION SHOWS AT DOMINION NOW

"Chang," a motion picture revealing the hazardous life of the jungle, has been brought back to America by Merian C. Cooper and Ernest B. Schoedsack, who spent twenty-two months in the remote interior of Siam making the production.

Heralded by Paramount in such extravagant superlatives as "one of the greatest pictures of all time" "Chang" is utterly different from any photoplay ever made, in that although ferocious animals of the jungle—tigers, leopards, elephants, great snakes and chattering monkeys are the principal actors—the picture contains a basic plot, skilfully embroidered with the conventional dramatic forms of sympathy, struggle, menace, tragedy, pathos and exceptional comedy, furnished by a white gibbon named Bimbo.

"Chang" will be presented at the Dominion Theatre all this week under the auspices of Paramount, which organization financed Cooper and Schoedsack in their extraordinary effort.

The theme of "Chang" is most elemental—the conflict of man against his implacable foe, the jungle, and the hostile beasts sheltered by its abundant foliage.

New Movie Plans In Great Britain

London, Oct. 20.—Possibility of a British-United States moving picture combination was indicated yesterday by Joseph M. Schenck, American producer, who had come to London, he said, to discuss the possibilities of arranging a picture producing affiliation.

"I have been invited to a conference with the film authorities of this country," he explained, "to see if we can formulate definite plans for producing pictures in Great Britain. I think the scheme should work out very satisfactorily. We could bring some of our most experienced producers and some of our stars over here to work with those on this side, and could engage here people with picturesque personalities to take part in films. It would be possible to make three or four pictures a year in Great Britain."

ORGANIST TO PLAY VIERNE NUMBERS

Palmer Christian to Give Recital at Metropolitan Church

The comparatively rapid manner in which Palmer Christian has risen to fame as a concert organist is due, in no small measure, to the care and thought he extends in selecting the items comprising his recital programmes. As a result, the interest of his hearers is thoroughly maintained from beginning to end.

Mr. Christian also believes that the resources of the modern organ are often cramped by being made to fit the confines of programmes of too severe and traditional a character and he has always been an inveterate searcher after new material, presenting new and interesting works, for the first time, by composers of all nationalities.

Those who have pleasurable recollections of the recital given here last year by Louis Vierne, will be interested to learn that Mr. Christian will include at least one of Vierne's compositions in the programme of organ music he will render at the Metropolitan United Church on Tuesday, November 1.

MANY DISREGARDING PRIVILEGES OF VOTE

Ten days, including to-day, remain for the registration of voters for the City Voters' List. Registration closes, by statute, at 5 p.m. on October 31, and all whose names are not on the list at that time will be deprived of a vote at the December municipal elections. Registrations this morning brought the number of applications since the first of the month up to 700, leaving some 1,300 who are eligible to vote and who have not yet taken necessary declaration. Special facilities have been provided at the office of the City Clerk, at the City Hall, to expedite the registration of those who apply in person between now and the end of the month. The revision of the list is an annual one and experience has shown that despite adequate warning many defer their registration until the eleventh hour.

LOWER DUTY ON CORK BOARD URGED

Tariff Board of Canada Considering Request Made at Hearing in Ottawa

Ottawa, Oct. 20.—Reduction in the duty on cork board entering Canada from twenty to thirty per cent was requested before the Tariff Advisory Board here yesterday. The question was taken under advisement.

On behalf of the applicants, the Armstrong Cork & Insulating Company Limited of Montreal, R. J. Deachman of Ottawa, urged that the decrease be granted. Canada imported a large amount of cork board from Spain, he stated, and in this country, insulation of houses was an important matter owing to the high cost of fuel and the severity of the Winters. He quoted a pamphlet issued by the Fuel Board of Canada stating that with proper insulation Canada's fuel bill could be reduced to the neighborhood of $30,000,000 annually. Cork was an ideal insulating material, and cork board an ideal form of insulation. For these reasons he believed a tariff decrease could well be put into effect.

FIELD IS LEFT CLEAR FOR RADIO AMATEURS

Washington, Oct. 20.—The cause of the radio amateur was successfully championed yesterday at a meting of a sub-committee of the International Radio Conference here and the spectre of international regulations cramping his activities was successfully banished at least for the present.

The United States, joined by Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Ireland, moved yesterday for formal recognition of the international status of radio amateurs. They suggested a special band of frequencies be set apart for their experiments, and that no international restrictions be imposed upon the power they might use, but that this be left to the discretion of each individual country.

The proposal met with no opposition, although it had been the understanding that considerable resentment existed in several countries against the activities of amateurs as causing interference and competing with commercial radio concerns.

Alberta Branch Seeks Special Favor to Overcome Troubles in Their Province

Local Delegates Can Join in Discussion on Lacrosse Problem as Well

Leonard Tait, president of the Victoria branch of the B.C.A.A.U.; Percy Watson and Arthur Manson, the local delegates to the annual meeting of the provincial body in Vancouver on Saturday, will be able to participate in several important discussions. A very interesting agenda has been drawn up and some of the questions have a great bearing upon the athletic life of this Province.

One of the items on the agenda is the lacrosse situation as concerning the sending of the New Westminster Salmonbellies, champions of Canada, to the Olympic Games next Summer. The question at issue is whether or not the four reinstated professionals, who were important cogs in the defeat of the Toronto Westons for the Mann Cup, shall be included in the much-sought trip. A definite policy will be laid down at Saturday's meeting as to the attitude of the branch in appealing for consideration for the former pros.

BARRED JUST NOW

The Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association has been advised that the four men would not be allowed to make the trip to Amsterdam, and this decision of the Canadian Olympic committee was recently confirmed by J. Howard Crocker, secretary of the executive council of that body, last week when he was in the Royal City.

Alex Courtney, president of the B.C.A.A.U., is of the opinion that as the game against an English team next August will be merely an exhibition, having no bearing on the point standing as between nations, the entire team which won the championship should be sent.

In this event Mr. Courtney feels that considerable financial assistance would be forthcoming for the Olympic committee from the Coast, to assist in paying the expenses of the team. The attitude, therefore, of the meeting on Saturday will be watched with interest.

Cliff "Doughy" Spring, former lacrosse pro., is asking for reinstatement this year, and his application will come before the branch meeting. Jimmy Gunn's name, and that of "Angy" McDonald, will also be up for consideration and recommendation to the Dominion A.A.U. pow-wow at Edmonton on December 1, 2 and 3.

TROUBLE IN BASEBALL

Alberta has been having some difficulty in its amateur baseball affairs for the last two or three years, and in order to more easily handle the difficult situation there, Secretary John Leslie has forwarded the following resolution to the British Columbia and Saskatchewan branches enlisting support for the measure which is to be presented at Edmonton:

1. Branches may on application to the National Registration Committee or annual meeting of the A.A.U. of C. be granted authority to permit amateurs to compete with or against professionals in senior baseball where such competition is controlled by a body recognized by the branch, said committee or meeting, however, to have every assurance from the branch officers that the interests of amateur sport are best served thereby, it is provided that the registration committee or annual meeting may for just cause withdraw the application of such provision within the jurisdiction of the branch involved.

2. Include "baseball" in competitions outlined in section 6 of the General Rules: "An athlete shall not lose his amateur status by competing with or against a professional in baseball, cricket, golf or indoor bowling."

ALWAYS TROUBLE

There is trouble in Victoria at the present time over the playing of a professional with amateurs in a ball game here. However, if baseball is given the concession asked there is no reason why rugby, football, hockey and every other sport should not be given the same consideration. The whole thing hinges on the one question that has been debated for years: "Why cannot an amateur and a pro. play together without the former losing his standing?"

Six Clubs Enter in Commercial Hockey League This Season

Commercial League amateur ice hockey teams will play their opening games on November 7, provided the area is open by that date. At the annual meeting of the league held last night six teams entered and prospects look bright for the coming season.

This season the clubs will play for the International Engineering Schools' trophy. The schedule calls for eighteen games, which means that each team will meet the other twice.

The teams entered this year are as follows: Plimley & Ritchie, Rink-Rats, International Engineering School, Bapcos, U.C.T. and Empires.

At last night's meeting Cy Paxton was elected president and Bob MacDonald secretary. Jack McDonald will referee the games.

CHAMPION IN LEAD

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—Otto Reiselt, Philadelphia, three-cushioned billiard champion of the world, last night won the first block of his 150-point match with Gus Copulos, Detroit challenger, sixty to thirty-nine in sixty-two innings. Reiselt's high run was six, while the challenger had two highs of five each.

Local Ruggers Say They Have Recovered Punch For Vancouver

With Fraser and Horne Back in Game Victoria Looks For Improvement in Play

Terminals Coming For "Big Four" Game Saturday; Varsity Meet Royals

Every man jack has his dander up and craves action" was the way Dick Wilson, playing manager of the Victoria Travelers, spoke of his team this morning. The Travelers are to meet Vancouver on Saturday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park in a "Big Four" rugby fixture.

Gordie Fraser, the greatest kicker in the league, will be back in the game. His toe will greatly strengthen the local side, which has had to get along for two games without him, owing to an injury to his ankle. Fraser can drive a ball half the length of the field and gives his side a great advantage over other clubs when it comes to kicking.

READY FOR FRAY

Horne, one of the middle wing, who also suffered an injury earlier in the season, will also be ready for the fray. The inclusion of Horne and Fraser will give the locals the strengthening they need.

Art Webster went to New Westminster last Saturday and played his first game of Canadian rugby. He admits that he wondered what a lot of it was about, but he has had his initiation, and his speed and tackling will be a decided asset to the club on Saturday.

The team has been out every night at the Horse Show building, being drilled by Coach Ernie Coach. New plays have been perfected.

In the opening game of the season Victoria defeated Vancouver 20-9, but no such easy task is expected this week, as Vancouver has brought several stars back into the game.

THEY WORK AND WRITE

The Vancouver team possesses all the frills of a big league club. They even have a publicity department, and this morning the sporting editor of The Times was in receipt of the following information:

"A greatly improved team will journey to Victoria for the week-end to get revenge on the chambion Victoria Big Four Canadian rugby twelve. The Vancouver machine, reinforced with Gilmore in the back field and Gourlay in the rush line, will attempt to square accounts with Victoria for the severe drubbing dished out to them by the champs in the curtain-raiser when the Vics returned to their Island fastnesses with the long end of a 20-9 score.

"Much water has passed under the goal posts at Athletic Park since then. The Terminals piled up a 25-1 win on the new formidale 'red menace' from New Westminster, and one week later got a draw with the league-leading U.B.C. team.

PUNCH GONE

"Victoria, on the other hand, lost to Varsity and could get nothing better than a draw from the 'red shirts.' Sentiment on the mainland favors Vancouver in Saturday's contest, partly from the dope-sheet and partly because Victoria's play seems to lack its early punch. Lack of aggressiveness by the forwards, in clearing for the backs, and also in spilling opponents plays, is the champs chief weakness, pigskin followers agree.

"Both teams have snappy back fields, and the spoils of war will probably go the team which fields the hardest fighting line, rugby fans contend."

LAUGH IT OFF

So much for the publicity expert. In the last two games Victoria has certainly lacked a punch, but Coach Cook says that Vancouver will think Victoria had a flock of battering rams when the whistle goes on Saturday.

"No punch, eh?" laughs Cook. "We'll see. Vancouver got a surprise in the opening game and they'll get another on Saturday."

While Victoria and Vancouver are battling here for supremacy, New Westminster will be mixing it with Varsity at Vancouver. Should the Collegians and Victoria win, Varsity will still have a slight edge in the league standing with the local close behind. On the other hand, if the Salmonbellies take U.B.C. into camp and Vancouver turn the trick on the Capitals, the entire four team will be on a practical level. Standings now are:

	W.	L.	T.	Played
Varsity	1	0	1	2
Victoria	1	1	1	3
Vancouver	1	1	1	3
New Westminster	0	1	1	2

Basketball Entries Must be Handed in By Monday Evening

Entries are now being received for the basketball league to be operated by the Anglican Athletic Association. A meeting will be held on October 27 at 7.45 o'clock, when plans for the coming season will be discussed. All entries must be in the hands of the secretary by Monday evening next.

Proposals advanced by the various committees is that the Memorial Hall gymnasium be used on Thursday nights for basketball and on Tuesday and Saturday evenings for badminton.

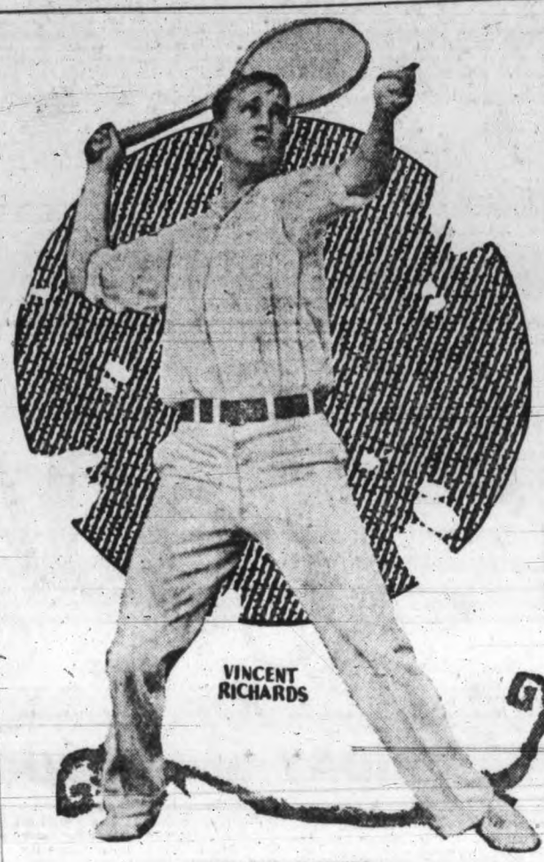
New York, Oct. 20.—Fight films can be exhibited legally in New York or any other state, according to a decision today by United States District Court Judge Henry Goddard.

WILL SHOW JAPANESE HIS STYLE



VINCENT RICHARDS

Richards was a very familiar figure on the tennis courts for ten years before he threw in his lot with "Cash and Carry" Pyle and became a professional tennis player. He made a lot of money on a tour of the country But since then has been little heard of. There are no professional tennis tournaments to thrill the fans and Richard's place in the amateur ranks has been taken by others. Richards has gone to Japan to teach the folks there how to play tennis and also to play exhibition matches. Financially Richards may be farther ahead than had he remained an amateur, but, like Suzanne Lengien, he is seldom heard of these days.

Motorcyclists to Hold Hillclimb at Mt. Douglas Park

Local Riders Preparing For First Climb in Three Years on November 7

Giant roars and rumbles originating in the region of Mount Douglas Park during the last few weeks were not caused by any volcanic disturbances in the popular picnic resort. They were merely the result of ambitious motorcyclists tuning up their machines for a hill climb, to be held by the Victoria Motorcycle Club on the steep Mount Douglas bluff on November 7.

On a course which has not been used for three years, members of the club are intent upon breaking all existing records at the hill. The last climb was held in 1924, after which came a slump in motorcycling. This year, however, it has been revived with renewed vigor and more boys are riding bikes than ever before.

POLICE CO-OPERATION

The club has been promised the co-operation of the Saanich Police Department and the Victoria-Saanich Parks and Beaches Committee in staging the event and all indications point to the most successful climb ever staged here. Attendance at past hill climbs has usually been large but a record crowd is expected for this event.

There will be at least four classes for the riders to enter. These will be for thirty-seven cubic inch motors, forty-five cubic inch motors, sixty-one cubic inch and seventy-four cubic inch motors. Practically all the riders in the club have dediced to enter their "busses" in one class or another and entries from Up-island riders are invited. It will, of course, be an all-amateur event.

GEORGE REECE CHAMPION

The holder of the present record for the hill is George Reece, who four years ago won the big motor classic with an Indian Chief. He intends to resurrect his "bus" and defend his honors. There will be plenty of competition for him, however.

The Motorcycle Club has departed from the usual policy of holding the hill climb on New Year's Day.

This year, the boys are all "rarin' to go" and could not wait till New Year's to stage the event.

The situation of the course is at the top of the automobile road leading from Cedar Hill Road up the mountain. The riders will put their machines up a bluff with a grade of almost 45 degrees. There will be plenty of opportunities for thrills and spills.

Hunters Are Warned Against Shooting at Quail or Partridge

Although game regulations have been posted in every conspicuous place, some hunters are still under the impression that European partridges and quail are in season. According to the regulations issued by the Game Conservation Board partridges do not become lawful game until November 15, while quail come into season on November 1.

WOMEN'S SIX-DAY BIKE RACE WILL LAST TILL 1929

Chicago, Oct. 20.—A six-day bike race that won't be over until 1929 is under way at the Illinois Women's Athletic Club.

Instead of riding "round and round" a wooden bowl on a dangerous two-wheel contraption and getting nowhere, the women have adopted a stationary machine which takes them just as far.

The wheelless "bike" is capable of forty miles an hour on the dial and each contestant rides fifteen minutes a day.

The mileage is kept by the club statistician and the woman who grinds out the greatest number of miles in an elasped time of six days, will be declared the winner, some time in 1929.

Chess Masters in Another Draw Game Before President

Capablanca and Alekhine Finish Seventeenth Game Without a Decision

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 20.—With President de Alvear, of Argentina, as a spectator, Jose Capablanca, Cuban champion, and Alexander Alekhine, Russian challenger, last night played a draw in the seventeenth game of their championship match, adjourned from Tuesday night. The game was declared a draw after fifty-nine moves.

London, Oct. 20.—While Dr. S. Tartakower, of France, retained first place in the International Chess Masters' Tournament at the British Empire Club, F. J. Marshall, of New York, moved into second place by drawing his game with R. Reti, of Czechoslovakia, in the eighth round last night. Dr. Tartakower defeated Yates, the British champion.

The chief upset of the evening was the loss of a game by A. Nimzowitsch, of Denmark, to W. Winter, England, Nimzowitsch dropping to third place.

The results were as follows:

Nimzowitsch, Denmark, lost to Winter, England, in an irregular opening after forty-five moves.

Colle, Belgium, adjourned with Bogoljubow, Germany, in a queen's pawn opening after fifty moves.

Reti, Czechoslovakia, drew with Marshall, United States, in a ruker-tort opening after thirty-one moves.

Vidmar, Jugoslavia, drew with Thomas, England, in a queen's gambit declined, after thirty-eight moves.

Fairhurst, England, lost to Buerger, England, in a queen's pawn opening after forty-five moves.

Yates, England, lost to Tartakower, France, in a Sicilian defence after forty-seven moves

Rennies Take Lead When Garrison Fall Before Hudson's Bay

Departmentals Spring Surprise by Taking Tommies Into Camp by 3-2 Score

Bakers Beat Saanich 7-1; Tillicums Win; Three Teams Tied For Second Place

Rennie and Taylor now hold undisputed possession of first place in the Wednesday Football League as a result of yesterday's matches. The Bakers found no trouble in defeating Saanich United, but the Garrison, who have kept pace in first place with Rennies since the start of the season, found a tough snag in the Hudson's Bay, and suffered their first defeat of the season. The Tillicums beat the Navy in the other match.

The results were as follows:

Tillicums 4, Navy 1.

Hudson's Bay 3, Garrison 2.

Rennie and Taylor 7, Saanich United 1.

The big surprise of the day was the defeat of the highly-touted Garrison eleven. The Bays played good football, and were leading 2-1 at half-time.

Starting the game with ten men the Bays played a defensive game until the arrival of their tardy player. They soon got on the attack and Lindgren in goal for the Tommies was called upon to clear several fast shots.

The Garrison opened the scoring when Middleton, after Craig had hit the crossbar, collected the rebound and bundled the ball into the net. The Bays evened up soon after, when Bob Addie carried the ball down the right wing and slipped it to King, who beat Lindgren with a low shot.

The Bays kept the ball well up the field and they took the lead when Addie drove in a fast shot from right wing that hit under the crossbar glancing into the net.

GARRISON HOT ON ATTACK

For the first fifteen minutes of the second half the Garrison did everything but score. They had shot after shot at Shrimpton, but failed to find the net.

The Bays then relieved the pressure and took a two-goal lead through Mair converting Addie's fine cross from the wing. The Garrison again came to within one goal of their opponents when Allan scored on a pass from Newton.

In the latter stages of the game the Garrison had a decided edge, but the final whistle found them still one goal behind.

Oliver refereed. The teams were as follows:

Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton; Haggen and Gardiner; Oakman, Woodley and Kerchin; Addie, Fish, King Mair and Collier.

Garrison — Lindgren; Farrar and Allan; Cahill, Spiers and Kemp; Newton, Bichard, Middleton, Hawkes and Craig.

At the Royal Athletic Park the youthful Tillicums proved too good for the Navy. The clubmen put up a far better exhibition than in their game last week with Rennies and well deserved their win. The clubmen trotted out a new full-back in the person of Steve Brynjolfson, and he proved a big asset to the team.

Ten minutes after the start the Tillicums took the lead when Stan Wright scored on a penalty kick awarded through a back charge on Bissell. This gave the Tillicum forwards added life, and they bombarded the Navy goal from all angles. Their second counter came when Bissell took a pass from Wright and, after beating the two backs, drove the all past Barker. The goalie was injured in attempting to save, and had to leave the field until just before half-time. Rigby, the Tillicum's fleet outside left, came in fast and beat Barker from a few feet out, putting the clubmen three goals up.

NAVY BUCK UP

The Navy had a little more of the play in the second half, but were unable to get past Burns and Brynjolfson, the Tillicum backs. Bissell again went through on his own, but passed up an open goal, while Wright had an easy chance to score a few minutes later, but shot over the bar.

Carrying the ball down the left wing Marr sent in a beautiful shot on goal, but Sallaway fisted it out and then cleared well down the field. During pressure on the Tillicum goal someone handled the ball and the Navy were awarded a penalty. Roberts found no trouble in scoring from the kick. Rigby sewed up the game for the clubmen by scoring his second goal of the match.

McKay refereed. The teams were as follows:

Tillicums—Sallaway, Burns, Steven Brynjolfson, Davis, Clark Sewell, Cann, Hamar, Bissell, Wright and Rigby.

Navy — Barker, Temple, Dyson, Prezan, Roberts, Gleave, Patterson, Lovett, Marr, Hall and Cozier.

After holding Rennies to a one-goal lead in the first half, Saanich United fell to pieces in the final forty-five minutes, allowing their opponents to run in five goals.

In the first half, with the wind in their favor, Saanich gave their more experienced opponents a good battle. Shortly after the start Purdy and Davis scored for Rennie and during a mix-up in the Bakers' goal Hawkes drove the ball past Lomas for the United's only counter.

Rennies had things their own way in the second half and scored five goals, Borde getting a pair, while Speak, Davis and Taylor each added one.

Hewison refereed. The teams were as follows:

Rennie & Taylor—Lomas, Tupman, Gilbert, Stewart, Purdy, Smith, Taylor, Borde, Speak, Hay and Davis.

Saanich United — Rhodes, Ash, Hogarth, Stonier, Hawkes and Brown, Lynn, Love, Barry, Ross, Simpson,

Chabot Knocks Roy Down But Fails to Gain Championship

Canadian Lightweight Champion Retains His Title in 12-Round Battle

Montreal, Oct. 20.—Leo "Kid" Roy retained his Canadian lightweight title by defeating George Chabot, local challenger, on points, in a 12-round battle here last night.

George Pitfield, Toronto, in a bout in which his Canadian welterweight title was not at stake, drew with Johnny Morris, Montreal, in a 12-round semi-final.

A record crowd of 12,500 saw Chabot knock down the titleholder, who however, was up before the count started, in the seventh round.

Roy earned the unanimous decision through his superior mastery of ring craft, making every blow count and gradually wearing down his opponent.

GAINS DECISION

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—Benny (Kid) Carter, Phoenix, Ariz., featherweight, won a ten-round decision over Angel De La Cruse, Filipino of Manila, at National Hall here last night. Carter weighed 122 and De La Cruse 110.

ENGLISHMAN OUT QUICK

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—Jack Gross, Salem, N.J., knocked out Dan Bright of England in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout last night. A right to the stomach shortly after Bright had risen from the canvas, where a blow to the head had put him early in the round for a count of eight, finished the Englishman. Gross weighed 198, Bright 206.

High School Rugby Teams Defeated in First Main Trials

Brentwood College Place Teams With Fine Three-quarters in Field and Win

High School Seniors Try Gamely But Fail to Work as Smoothly as Opponents

Brentwood College sent their first and second rugby fifteens to town yesterday to meet the pick of Victoria High School and won both fixtures. The senior game, played before a crowd of 1,500 at the High School's beautiful new grounds, resulted in a 19-0 win for the collegians. The second team battle at Cadmore Road resulted in a slightly more decisive win, when Brentwood piled up 20 points against their opponents' "duck-egg."

Victoria lacked the finish to their play which Brentwood has gained through constant drilling, careful coaching and diligent training. Victoria has, however, the material for a splendid machine to retain the provincial high school championship.

SCORE EARLY

Brentwood took the kick-off and pressed when High School returned with a punt. A line formation streamed through the Victoria defence and was only stopped when Gann tackled furiously. Victoria took possession and drove hard through the centre when Cudlip plunged. Boorman fumbled and out of a series of scrums Brentwood gained ground. Another scrum gave the collegians a three-run start and Robertson flashed across on the wing with Boorman at his heels and just unable to reach the runner.

High School pressed and with a three-point lead for encouragement, Brentwood held solidly and smashed every attack. Turgoose, the flashy right wing, was bottled up completely. Only once or twice did he get away at the end of a run and then there was no support for him.

A FINE RUN

Brentwood scored a second try when Nickson ended a fine three-quarter run with a splendid individual effort, dodging through the entire Victoria defence to land under the posts. The kick at goal succeeded.

High School fought desperately until half-time without succeeding in making a hole through the Brentwood defence. Hard tackling always stopped the runners.

At the commencement of the second half Victoria seemed to have been imbued with new life. They hurled themselves to the attack and for part of the time stayed in Brentwood territory, flashing from first one wing to another and then down the centre in vain efforts to break through the stubborn defence of the college men.

Soccer tactics on the part of the High School gave the Brentwood men possession and after a three-quarter run Nickson went through a second time. Again the score was converted.

SCORE ON MISTAKES

Brentwood's scores, while spectacular in the second half, were the result not of the ability of the backs to so great an extent as in the former period, but largely to the fumbling hesitation on the part of Victoria.

After another Victoria attack, Brentwood erupted again and sent Doherty crashing through on the wing.

Towards the end of the game Brentwood pressed for five minutes steadily, but the Victoria boys had found themselves and held them out. Then they forced the play with Cudlip and Gann outstanding. After a seige of pressure Victoria sent an easy punt to fall short of touch and allow Brentwood to get into motion another beautiful back line run. Matthews slipped through the opposition and scored the last try.

The teams were as follows: Brentwood—Furber, Dee, Cameron, Green, Symons, Field, Martin, Ferris, Pugh, Nickson, Matthews, Robertson, Doherty, Cowper and Mitchell.

Victoria High School—Boorman, Turgoose, Cudlip, Gaunt, Parrott, Shaw, Ford, Petticrew, Bissell, Monk, Kinsman, Gann, Killick, Caddell and Caulter.

Walter Brynjolfson was the referee. He handled the game ably.

In the second game, an untrained High School met a team of well organized Brentwood players and were defeated. High School possessed some good material, but it never found its way into enemy territory far.

The college fifteen, on the other hand, excelled in three-quarter work. They were proficient on defensive play and fast on the attack.

Stokes was lost to the High School when he was kicked groggy in the first half of the game. He was unable to return to the game.

F. Ashley Sparks refereed.

Jimmy Rimmer, Pro at Jasper Park, Here on Visit For First Time

Jimmy Rimmer, pro at the Jasper Park Lodge golf course, is a visitor to this city, and has been enjoying himself on local courses. This is his first visit to Victoria, and he is delighted with what he has seen.

Yesterday morning he played at the Victoria Golf Club and in the afternoon at the Colwood Golf Club. He appeared in a foursome on both occasions with John Hart and Dick Baker of Vancouver, and Phil Taylor of Victoria.

SCOTTISH TO PRACTICE

The Canadian Scottish intermediate rugby team will hold a practice this evening. The soccer team will also turn out. Both teams will practice at 8 o'clock at the Armories. All players are asked to turn out.

"I never smoked until I stopped rowing more than 20 years ago. Since then I have tried many brands of cigars and cigarettes, but until a friend offered me a Buckingham I never knew how pleasant and easy on the throat a cigarette could be. I spend most of my time around my old home near Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching and my days are pleasant ones. Tobacco such as one gets in Buckingham helps to make them more so."

J. G. Gaudaur

WHEN "Jake" Gaudaur, who, with Ned Hanlan and Lou Scholes, brought to his native Canada the prestige of the world's championship in rowing, there were no "movie" contracts, stage appearances or lucrative writing contracts to reward his efforts. A few hundred dollars, many cups and trophies and any number of illuminated addresses were the sole benefits derived—except that glorious sense of achievement and shining example for Canadian athletics which to-day is emulated by such worthy successors as "Joe" Wright.

At the age of 68 years, with a record of hundreds of victories over the world's best, Mr. Gaudaur again lives near the beautiful lakes of Simcoe and Couchiching, where in a clumsy skiff he won his first rowing races as a youth of seventeen.

Buckingham esteems it an honor to have received a hearty tribute from so noted a Canadian champion as Mr. Gaudaur. Buckingham appreciates the championship rank it has attained among so many thousands of Canadians because of its "throat-easy" quality, freshness and fragrant blend.

"Consideration, co-operation and co-ordination," quoted His Honor from the remarks of the Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Premier of Great Britain, "held the key to most difficulties." This was particularly true of the West, where the dynamic force resulting from unity of thought and action would make itself felt in the next few years, he believed.

A UNITED CANADA

Cities, concluded His Honor, should not, in the bustle of material prosperity, forget the aesthetic and social side of life. For Canadian development would be one-sided unless it was all round. There was no question about the coming material prosperity of Canada, and he would close with the confident hope that each of the cities and municipalities represented at the gathering would prosper under their able leader, in the upbuilding of a greater and united Canada.

Extending a brief welcome on behalf of the city of Victoria, Mayor J. C. Pendray paid a tribute to the hospitality of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who had been indefatigable in extending a gracious welcome to the guests of the Province and the city, and who, by his entertainment at Government House had left many pleasant memories in the minds of visitors who left charmed with their vision of the West.

Over 350,000 visitors had been attracted to Victoria in the season to date, and these had left upwards of $7,000,000 in trade in the city, stated His Worship. Victoria was co-operating with Vancouver in the harvest of the tourist crop, which yielded richer returns yearly.

Victoria had entered into an industrial campaign this year, with results that were promising well. Prairie delegates would be glad to hear that the grain elevator to which city aid had been accorded would be under construction in a very short while, continued the Mayor. In its aspirations in the grain trade Victoria was an ally of Vancouver, with the export of the hard and soft wheat mixtures required by the Orient as her especial niche in the westward flow of Canada's chief product.

TAX CUT CONTINUE

Like other cities all over Canada, Victoria was coming into its own, stated His Worship, and was blessed with natural advantages of health, climate and position favorable to benefit from the Pacific trade. Taxation had been reduced by the city steadily for several years, and he was pleased to be able to forecast that it would continue this reduction in the years to come. This saying had not been effected at the loss of efficiency, as all municipal operations had been kept fully up to modern standards.

The city was pleased to welcome a gathering which promised an interchange of experience such as represented by the delegates of the Western Canada Development and Unity League, and much practical good would result, concluded Mayor Pendray.

Convention business to-day was featured by a discussion on international trade relations, opened by Mayor J. A. Gregory of North Battleford, in a brilliant address.

At noon the delegates were entertained at an informal luncheon at the Crystal Garden by the city of Vancouver, Mayor Taylor presiding. The afternoon session opened with a continuation of the discussion on international trade relations, and will be followed by a round table conference on freight rates, led by Mayor McKinnon. To-night at 8 o'clock the delegates will be guests of the city of Victoria at a dinner to be given at the Empress Hotel.

SCHOOL TRIAL IS IN PROGRESS IN CHICAGO

F. Bausman Testifies at Hearing of Charge Against Suspended Superintendent

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Charges that George Locke, chief librarian of Toronto and until recently president of the American Library Association, was Great Britain's war-time director of propaganda in the United States and that the association had been moulding the literary habits of the United States while acting as an agency of propaganda distribution, were made here yesterday by Frederick Bausman, former Supreme Court justice of the State of Washington.

The testimony was given at the Chicago Board of Education trial of William McAndrew, suspended superintendent of schools, in echoing Mayor Thompson's sampaign slogans: "America First" and "Down with King George."

His testimony, aimed originally to show Mr. McAndrew was fostering pro-British teaching in the Chicago schools, was augmented to lend substance to Mayor Thompson's charge that a carefully directed propaganda, favorable to Great Britain and unfavorable to the United States, is being carried on through the United States.

RHODES TRUST

Mr. Bausman said the Cecil Rhodes Trust Fund has as one of its objects the return of the United States to the British crown and that this is the apparent origin of the overseas propaganda.

The United States, "influenced by British propaganda," gave up supremacy of the seas, Mr. Bausman said, "because it was foolish enough to sink part of its navy at England's suggestion."

DEBT CANCELLATION

The witness said the American colonies in England and France are "toadying to France and England," and that every member of the English-speaking Union favors debt concellation.

"The American Library Association propaganda is not a nebulous thing," said Mr. Bausman. "It is the deliberate work of human minds, aided by financiers of England.

"England maintains in New York an English bureau of information which sent out an amazing amount of literature, all political," Mr. Bausman testified. "England fears that if Americans get to know England was a guilty party in the causes for the World War, Americans no longer will fawn at her feet, as some do.

NEWSPAPERS MENTIONED

"Only one newspaper in London, The London Spectator, deals fairly with the United States. All the rest hold us in the lowest contempt," he said.

When Bausman stepped from the stand, counsel for McAndrew moved the entire testimony be stricken out. The motion was denied.

The hearing is to be resumed Monday.

CANADIAN WEST HAS GOLDEN FUTURE IN CO-ORDINATED TRADE

throughout the country, and it is very destructive to our own initiative.

"How much thought have we yet given to the consideration of what benefits we, as provinces, can bestow on each other? In many cases we have been totally indifferent to what we can do to help our neighboring provinces, and have sent money out of the country for goods that could be bought just as advantageously at home, though perhaps a few miles away over the provincial borderline. In other cases we have not studied what we could buy at home, or what could be sold or exchanged between our provinces," continued the speaker.

"Not only has there been this lack of appreciation of what we have, but a very real ignorance of our own resources, and what they could be used for in the development of the country. We lack a scientific knowledge of what to do with what we have in the way of natural resources. And these are all points that focus our attention on the question of what we can do for each other in an inter-provincial way.

FISH NEEDED ON PRAIRIES

"It is elemental to suggest that on the prairies we can make use of the fish and fish products produced here on the coast, in exchange for our wheat and wheat products such as stock and poultry feed. The coast could use prairie butter in preference to that imported from Australia. All of that will occur to you at once. But we must go further and get down to the basic principles underlying inter-provincial trade.

"The requisites may be stated as follows: Citizens must be made to appreciate that Nature intended British Columbia and the prairie province to trade together, and fight together for the progress that is their destiny.

"Then there is the old question of 'railway or people first.' Whether it is wise to build railways into the uninhabited or scattered districts to bring in people to develop those districts, or the people should be allowed to go miles and miles from the railways and create the demand for the road by their products and their industry.

"It is still a problem in fact if the railways should open up the country for the people, or if this development should take place the other way round. Thirty years on the prairies has given me an insight into how this has worked out.

"I am thoroughly confident that the Peace River deserves development on its merits and that the time is now opportune for a rail outlet to the Pacific Coast. As part of a great Canadian policy it would be wisdom to start immediately in the provision of that outlet.

"The development of Pacific ports along sane and steady lines is also vital to us on the prairies. The Pacific Coast is wonderfully blessed with port advantages with great possibilities of development if care is taken to see that too great costs are not placed on the ports so that the cost of operation make charges prohibitive and curtail their use. There is the question of development of these port along sane and economic lines. You have these advantages as potentialities, be careful how they are developed. The wisdom of making no mistakes is self-evident.

"Without commenting on the figures let me cite some facts in regard to the port of Vancouver. The port handling charges on grain in Vancouver was once half cent per bushel. It has grown to nearly 1½ cents per bushel, or an increase of nearly 200 per cent. Storage charges have grown from half cent to one cent, an increase of 100 per cent. There has been an increase of 500 per cent in cargo rates per ton. I am cherily not in a position to speak as to the necessity of these charges, but I know their effects. Again let me say there is the necessity for the most careful development, both in the capital charges of a port and in its operation.

"The prairies are extracting wealth from the soil in vastly increasing acreage. Settlement is progressing satisfactorily, and there is going to be business in the West for all. It is only a question of time before there will be prairie business for every Canadian port on this coast, but you must be careful to see that the cost of doing business with you and through you is not unreasonably high.

EXPORT GRAIN RATES

"The new export grain is satisfactory enough but domestic rate demands attention. The export rate is twenty cents per 100 pounds from Edmonton to Prince Rupert, Victoria or Vancouver. The domestic rate varies from 41½ to fifty-three cents per 100 pounds in what was an attempt to approximate the charge to the mileage.

"The domestic grain rate is so high that it has practically made it impossible for us on the prairies to ship your stock and poultry dealers our low-grade grains for feed purposes. We cannot compete with the Argentine corn that is being landed at Vancouver on account of the high domestic rate.

"There will be enormous quantities of the lower grade wheat and feed oats on the prairies this year. This we would like to send to your stock and poultry men in British Columbia. But as matters stand we would not be able to do so. However, the fight is not yet finished. The export rate is fairly satisfactory, but the domestic rates is still far too high.

STUDY OF NATURAL RESOURCES

"Another requisite in my mind is the study of our natural resources and their uses by means of national research bureaus. There should be a bureau in each Province for the purpose of finding out what we have, and what uses we can put our resources to, developed on a general and definite plan on interprovincial co-operation. In Germany and the United States they are spending very large sums in this way, to take new products from the soil, the water, and even the air; cutting off imports wherever possible by the substitution of the products thus discovered.

"Canada has a national research council, and Alberta, I believe, is the only province with a provincial research council. There should be one in each province, attached if need be to the universities. To show you the need for this study I may say that in a survey of 8,000 industries in Canada only thirty-seven maintained research laboratories. Industrial group research has been pushed to a high degree of perfection in Europe, and we could benefit from the co-ordination of Western resources that this plain would permit.

"Next I would name the necessity for the development of the import trade via Pacific ports, to supply cargoes coming this way so that export grain shipments may be made at an advantageous rate. Canada has a big field for the development of trade in wheat and flour with the Orient. Before many years I believe the Pacific Coast will be the centre of the milling industry of Canada, if not of the world. Some 560,000,000 bushels of grain could be absorbed by China and Japan if they increased their consumption respectively to one and two bushels per head per year. The average Canadian consumption of grain is five bushels per capita. I have only attempted to sketch out the subject for your discussion," concluded Mayor Gregory as the convention rose for the noon recess.

TEA RAIL RATES ARGUMENTS HEARD

equalized, but they could not see why the merchants of St. John, N.B., had not applied for equalization rather than an increase in the West.

W. F. McClintock, appearing for the Associated Tea Merchants of the West, protested that the Canadian National Railways should collect the mountain differential on tea when there were no mountains on its route in this Province.

Decision was reserved, the chairman explaining that the case would receive further hearing in Winnipeg and elsewhere in the West.

H. L. Clipsham On Inspection of Fox Farms Here

Conducting a survey of fox farms throughout Canada for the Canadian Silver Fox Breeders' Association and the National Livestock Records Department at Ottawa, H. L. Clipsham is now in Victoria. The object of Mr. Clipsham's survey is to improve the breed.

Fox furs produced in British Columbia are second to none in Canada in regard to quality, Mr. Clipsham states. The fur market for silver foxes has showe dan increase of from 15 to 20 per cent fo rthe last three years and present indications are that a further increase in price will be seen this Winter, the visitor says.

Silver fox furs are used in the manufacture of ladies' high-grade scarves and for trimming coats and other garments.

STORY OF WITNESS IS DECLARED UNTRUE

Hubbard was placed on the stand as the first Government witness, and told a detailed story of the alleged activities of the liquor-running organization.

Defence attorneys sought to tear Hubbard's testimony to pieces in sharp cross-examination and the Government is bringing forth other witnesses to substantiate Hubbard's story.

LOADING OPERATIONS

Morgan Bowker, the first corroborative witness, also was indicted in the second Olmsted case, but was granted a separate trial on motion of the Government. Bowker resumed the stand to-day to describe rum-loading operations of craft off Whidby Island. Among the defendants mentioned by Bowker as handling liquor were Roy Olmsted, Ed Engdahl, Vivian Grubb, Chuck Hunter, Carl Scheerer and Louis, the Austrian.

EVIDENCE AT SEATTLE

Seattle, Oct. 20.—The names of Captain Frederick G. Dodge, retired United States coastguard commander, has been mentioned in federal court here in connection with the reputed operations of what is described by the Government as a million-dollar liquor smuggling conspiracy.

Appearing yesterday against forty persons on trial before Federal Judge George M. Bourquin in the so-called second Olmsted conspiracy case, Alfred M. Hubbard, dismissed federal dry agent and admitted principal in the rum ring, told of a conference he and several alleged whisky smugglers were said to have had with Captain Dodge in 1925, while Dodge was commanding the coastguard in the North Pacific.

Captain Dodge gave verbal assurance, Hubbard declared, that "the coastguard would lay off Olmsted's boats so there would be little danger of getting into trouble."

RECEIVED NO MONEY

Pressed by defence attorney to say whether Dodge was actually a participant in the reputed liquor conspiracy, Hubbard declared the coastguard officer "never took any money."

Dodge commanded the North Pacific area for the United States coastguard from 1921 to 1926. In the Fall of last year he was transferred to the command of the Southern Pacific district, with headquarters in San Francisco, but retired several months ago.

BAIL BOND FORFEITED

Roy Olmsted, convicted Pacific Northwest "rum baron" and principal defendant in the case, failed to appear for trial and his bond was forfeited. He was convicted two years ago of conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act and sentenced to four years' imprisonment. The sentence and conviction have been appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

Among the forty defendants in the present trial are former coastguardmen, an ex-county sherrif, Seattle police officials and former deputy sheriffs.

"What I need," said the hardware merchant to his applicant, "is a boy who will be partly in the store and partly out."

"But," interjected the boy, "what do I do when somebody closes the door?"

SMITH GAINS IN CONTEST FOR POST OF U.S. PRESIDENT

Washington, Oct. 20.—Governor Al Smith of New York has "won the West," Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, declared here upon his return from a trip through that section.

Appealing to the generosity and sense of fairness of the South, Senator Copeland asserted in a statement that "all that is now essential to the nomination of Governor Smith as the Democratic candidate and his election as President of the United States is for the cradle of Democracy to support his candidacy."

Its Richness Means Economy

IT is the double-richness of Carnation Milk which makes it so economical. So rich that it can be used in place of cream at one-third cream cost. So rich that it can be greatly diluted when used in cooking and for other milk uses. Carnation is the most completely useful milk you can buy.

And it has the additional economy of keeping. None is wasted. It keeps several days after opening—indefinitely in the tin.

Carnation is just pure, fresh milk evaporated to double richness, kept safe by sterilization. Order from your grocer several tins or a case of 48 tins.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

Wall Street Journal's Review of To-day's Stock Market Over B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Street Leased Wire to The Victoria Times

New York, Oct. 20.—Substantial recessions in pivotal issues came in face of further easement of credited call money was at 2½ per cent all day. Despite this attractive charge a large volume of funds went begging at this rate.

In speculative quarters the further break of the general list was generally ascribed to the fresh political uncertainty aroused by Senator Fess's statement that Coolidge was definitely out of the race.

With the market in a weakened technical position, stop-loss orders were caught in increasing numbers as the reaction progressed. This liquidation added momentum to the downward movement.

Continuation of heavy selling in many sections of the list bore out the belief of many observers that it would be some time before the current period of correction had run its course. While people with liquid funds were advised to be on the outlook for buying opportunities, they were advised that discrimination should be used.

Several important stock exchange firms strongly favor various representative mercantile, tobacco and utility shares for accumulation on a scale down.

New Haven advanced to new high ground on the movement, several theories have been advanced regarding the steady absorption of this stock. Pennsylvania owns slightly more than 50,000 shares of the stock.

Hell Gate bridge was built to connect the two roads and New Haven would be a logical acquisition for Pennsylvania.

Time money against stock exchange collateral quiet, in light demand and in good supply. Money for sixty days 4¼ over the year, 4½ per cent.

BIG SUGAR COUP PLANNED BY FRENCH

New York, Oct. 20.—A cable from London to-day says that French sugar manufacturers are contemplating a coup with the object of keeping prices high in France. They propose sending 200,000 tons of sugar abroad to be sold at a loss of about 20 francs per sack and thus create an artificial shortage in France and make 40 francs profit per sack on the remaining 600,000 tons. It is expected that England is to be the dumping ground.

Silverado Quietens As Dunwell Slumps; George Copper Rises

After the battle between the bulls and the bears in Silverado on the Victoria Stock Exchange yesterday, the stock quietened down to-day and there was no trading in it at all. It opened at 50 and closed at 55 bid and no offerings. Yesterday's lively Silverado market was made possible largely upon orders to buy at the market which certain brokers received before the market opened. Three examinations of the Silverado have been completed, and the engineers of one of the examining organizations are due to arrive here at the end of the week.

Dunwell developed another sinking spell to-day. The stock opened with offerings around 20. Then it broke to 18 and from there down to 16, where it closed without any bids for the stock. The last bid that was in the market for the stock was at 13 a couple of days ago.

Lakeview eased again and was offered at 1½ with no bids.

George Copper climbed again to-day, with buying taking up all offerings between 255 and 260. The stock closed at 260-270. The big block buying of George to-day came from Montreal and Vancouver.

Porter-Idaho is selling between 27 and 28½ in both Victoria and Vancouver markets. A considerable volume of the stock continues to change hands.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—Wheat: The market was somewhat dull, with very little going on. Prices were easier during the first part of the session but firmed up with shorts covering on scattered showers being forecast for Alberta on Friday. The upturn, however, was not held, the market again easing off in the late trade. There was a small volume of export business working, direct exporters stating fair acceptances had been received overnight, but business is much smaller than is usual at this season, but inquiry is improving with bids that are still under the market.

In the cash market there was good demand for all grades except three northern, which is going through the clearing house, 55,000 bushels being delivered to-day although some shippers reported small sales of this grade overnight. One, two and four are the grades mostly wanted and these are scarce. The premium on one northern was still 13c over October, and two northern 6 cents over. Number three is 8 cents under and number four is 20 cents under.

The weather over the entire West continues extremely favorable, threshing is making splendid progress and the Alberta crop is reported as grading better than expected following the rains and some exceptional heavy yields are being recorded as high as sixty-four bushels per acre. Country marketings Wednesday were 5,377,209 bushels against 3,748,225 last year. Receipts at terminal points are expected to be much larger next week.

Australia has had some rain, improving conditions in that country and the situation is very promising in the Argentine. We continue to favor sales on upturns. Winnipeg futures closed 1⅜ to ⅞ lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN

By the B.C. Bond Corporation

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Wheat: Heavy selling by the Northwest late in the session which was followed by the pit element, forced wheat prices to new lows on the crop. The market early was devoid of pressure, despite the favorable Canadian weather and heavy marketings. Winnipeg was strong until our market broke. Cash demand here was good, with sales to mills the best in some time.

Although the seaboard reported only half a million wheat, for export it was believed that more business had been done as purchases of futures here during the morning were credited to houses with seaboard connections.

Canadian marketings yesterday 5,377,209, the largest of the season and much large than a year ago. The Canadian movement, which is nearing its peak, will probably continue the chief depressing influence on our market.

Corn: Corn was fairly steady until wheat weakened, with the close rather weak. Weather over the belt continues favorable. Farmers in the vicinity of Kingsley, Iowa, are reported to have sstarted cribbing and husking in the Algoma territory will be general if the favorable conditions for ten days continue. It will be difficult to advance corrn unless wheat improves.

Oats weakened with other grains after a rairly steady tone early. Country offerings continue moderate.

New York, Oct. 20.—Bulges attracted liberal selling and on the decline that followed stocks were freely offered, with the result that many of the recent leaders and market favorites established new low levels for the present movement.

The active selling that occurred in the late afternoon followed closely a statement credited to Senator Fess that President Coolidge opposed being drafted for re-election. The News Budget reported carloadings lower than comparisons submitted, also the September rail earnings figures were probably lower than some had anticipated. This accounted for some pressure on the rail list. For a time California Oil issues firmed on reports that Governor Young of California may appoint a Gas Conservation Committee to stop Ventura Field Gas waste. Later, however, Oil shares trended with the general market.

Greene Cananea was the strong spot in the Copper Group and the profit-taking that it encountered was well taken. Hudson Motors found better support after being in early supply following its third quarters earning report which was better than the street had anticipated. Southern Pacific also worked against the general trend being a late favorite accompanied by increased dividend talk.

We still believe it advisable to reduce long holdings on the bulges that make their appearance.

New York, Oct. 20 (By Branson, Brown Leased Wire)—Whitney to-day says:

"At least the industrial section of the list when taken as a whole can truthfully be said to be in the process of liquidation, and this liquidation, subject to the usual technical rallies, is expected to continue. There was no rally worthy of the name in yesterday's market. The outlook for to-day is for a continuation of the decline pretty well throughout the industrial list, with the rail group later in the day displaying its first signs of solid resistance, and with a rally, purely technical, developing in the afternoon, which may be rather pronounced in the rail group and in a number of industrials which have acted particularly well, which in a few instances can carry members of both groups up perhaps sufficiently far to record new records.

"The statement on business conditions and prospects which emanated from Washington is far from a bullish document if you took the trouble to read it in detail.

"Stocks which point lower include in the industrial group, Postum, Ind. Alcohol, Crucible Steel, Union Bag, Union Carbide, General Electric, Phillips Petroleum and Texas Land Trust.

"In the rails, R.I., Atlantic Coast Line and the St. Paul issues. As opposed to these I look for Erie to go to a new top, with an objective of 80, well before end of this year. New high records for American Can and a substantial rally in U.S. Steel. Mullins Body, which has been inflated almost as flagrantly as Manhattan Electric Supply, is a real sore spot in the market. New Haven, Missouri Pacific and Wabash act excellently. American Chicle will be selling between 100 and 125 next year.

"Continue to avoid most of the industrials and buy sound rails whenever the weakness in the industrial group finds reflection on the rail group."

New financing to-day amounts to $45,000,000. $20,000,000 German bank 5½ per cent. notes, priced at 94½ to yield 6¼ per cent., lead offerings.

Loadings drop to 1,100,552 week of October 8. Decrease of 25,838 cars is reported from previous seven days, an ddrop of 74,378 from year ago.

The willingness on the part of large holders of stocks to distribute a portion of their holdings when good news comes to the aid of the market was clearly in evidence yesterday. Wide dissemination of the bullish views attributed to President Coolidge afforded an opportunity to sell shares when the market opened.

Stock prices have not been advanced to their present levels on business conditions alone, but on the unprecedented supply of investment funds. The continued presence of these funds also constitutes the market's greatest attraction.

A merger of five wire and cable manufacturing companies with plants throughout the country into the General Cable Corporation, makins it a $50,000,000 organization, is planned. In the consolidation are the Safety Cable Company, Standard Underground, Rome Wire Company, Dudlow Manufacturing Corporation and the Sheet Rod and Wire Mills of the Baltimore Copper Smelting and Refining Co.

Three independent steel companies, Republic, Trumbull and Gulf States, reported the results of third quarter operations yesterday, the first two showing a sharp decline in new profits from corresponding quarter of last year, while Gulf States made a slight improvement for the quarter, but had lower net for the first nine months of the year. The drop in earnings of Republic Iron and Steel, one of the largest independents, was regarded as one of the first factors contributing to the decline in stocks yesterday.

Many investors held that the major upward move in the industrials is nearing the end and are seeking investment opportunities among the standard dividend paying rails.

Call money at 3½ per cent. indicated by Saturday's bank statement was experienced, but did not have the bullish influence many thought it would.

Those who took a fair sized interest in Wabash some time ago are of the belief that dividends on the common are not as far off as may be supposed.

Commenting on improvements in packing conditions, one of the prominent firms said Wilson will bear watching. Troubles, as a result of the South American "war," it is claimed, are eliminated, and the company now is showing steady improvement.

There was no special news development pertinent to the automobile group. The Ford rumors and theories were repeated as the decline progressed, but the main motive behind the offerings was the belief that motors, like other groups, had over discounted all possible favorable developments for months to come.

The BLUE CAR MYSTERY

By NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

It was approaching noon and the uptown streets were fairly empty of passing vehicles, but as Terry turned into Pennsylvania Avenue he encountered long lines of passenger cars carrying the citizens of Washington, prominent members of the diplomatic corps and officials of the Government to the White House to attend the New Year's reception, that most democratic of functions, held by the President of the United States. The traffic jam was great and the crowd of idlers watching the endless procession of handsomely gowned and uniformed occupants of cars as well as the pedestrians who chose that easier method of reaching the White House, added to the congestion. It was fully twenty minutes before Terry drove past the Treasury Department, turned down Fifteenth Street, and so continued his way along historic Pennsylvania Avenue. As he reached the District Building he sought parking space, but even when located he did not at once leave the car.

Terry gained the sidewalk just as the traffic officer, his tour of duty over at the intersection of Fourteenth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, reached the curb and Terry accosted him.

"Is the Municipal Building open?" he asked as the officer halted at his hail.

The officer shook his head. "Holiday," he replied. "All the government offices are closed; that is, unless you are looking for Police Headquarters."

Terry showed his fine white teeeth in an expansive smile. "Only the Traffic Department," he admitted genially. "And—that will keep until tomorrow. Happy New Year!" With a friendly wave of his hand he reentered his coupe. But before he closed the door, the traffic cop stepped to the side of the car.

"Summoned?" he asked, and not waiting for a reply, added, "If so you go to the Police Court, Sixth and D Streets."

"Not summoned this time," replied Terry; he produced his cigarette case and offered it to the officer. "I was wondering if it would be hard to trace a car with last year's license tags."

The officer laughed as he used the electric cigarette lighter on the dash. "Only people courting trouble are still sporting 1924 tags," he said. "They are faced with immediate arrest."

"I thought some leeway was allowed."

"Not this year. The police commissioner gave 'em ample time to get the tags before and during the holidays." He shot a keen glance at Terry. "Your tags all right?"

"Sure." Terry threw the car in gear, preparatory to starting. "A friend of mine mentioned over the phone that his car had been stolen—"

"Has he reported the theft?"

"To me, yes; I represent his insurance company. The car had its 1924 tags still on it—"

The traffic cop shook his head. "They will prove no clue," he said. "No thief would dare use 'em. Now,"," taking out his notebook, "can you give me the engine number?"

"No; my friend is sending all such detailed information to me. He was on his way, immediately after he phoned me, to see Captain Hadley of the traffic squad. Much obliged for your courtesy, officer," and Terry nodded a cheery farewell as he drove away from the curb.

New Jersey Avenue and N Street South East presented a comparatively deserted appearance and Terry's car, moving noiselessly over the snow-covered pavements, did not disturb the Sunday calm which prevailed. Before stopping at his destination he circled the block, then drove up to the front door of "Whitney's Folly," as the colonial mansion set in its terraced gardens was called by denizens of that section of the Federal City.

The four-story brick mansion, built shortly before the Revolutionary War by no less a personage than George Washington, had changed hands but once in its long and eventful history. Purchased in the early part of the nineteenth century by Josiah Whitney, a retired sea captain, from the Washington heirs, it had descended from father to son and finally by inheritance fallen into the hands of Commodore James Whitney, United States Navy, retired, the last of his name, but of a collateral line of famous Whitneys.

The Whitneys, one of the old families of the District of Columbia, having been transplanted there from New York immediately following the setting aside by Virginia and Maryland of the ten miles square of territory to house the Federal Government, had not moved to more fashionable quarters when the exodus to the northwest set in, carrying with it many of their influential neighbors. Commodore Whitney had at first considered selling the place for building lots, but a brief residense in the old mansion had altered his views and he had remained where he was. The house had been modernized and, to some extent, remodled, but care had taken not to mar its colonial architecture or setting.

First making sure that the coupe was securely locked, Terry slowly mounted the terraced steps, graded in three groups of four each, to the circular portico which gave entrance to the mansion. From behind one of the huge white Corinthian columns which supported the roof of the portico, a small man observed Terry's progress upward, but it was not until the latter was about to cross the stone flagging toward the door bell that he stepped fully into view and addressed Terry.

"It's not necessary to ring," he said civilly. The door is unlocked. Walk in, sir."

Terry favored him with a surprised stare and a slight uplift of his eyebrows. A turn of the knob of the front door proved the stranger spoke truly and with a briefly spoken "Thanks," Terry stepped inside the mansion into a square hall of large dimensions. Long, heavy portieres obscured the daylight, drawn as they were across four wide doorways, one at the back of the hall which gave access to the dining-room, and the others leading to library, drawing-room, and anterroom respectively. In the dim illumination afforded by the fan light over the broad colonial doorway, Terry made out a wide staircase, its highly polished mahogany rail in dark contrast to the spotlessly white posts of the balustrades, and a tall grandfather clock standing toward the back of the hall in the bend of the staircase. On Terry's right, but midway down the hall, was a leather-covered davenport and seated upon it a blue-coated policeman. At Terry's entrance the latter arose.

"Yes, sir?" he inquired interrogatively, as Terry stopped by the hall table and placed his hat upon it.

"Where is Mose?" Terry slipped out of his fur-lined coat and tossed it in a heap on a hall chair, and, observing no lighting of the policeman'e stolid countenance, added, with a touch of irritation, "Commodore Whitney's body servant, I mean. Where is he?"

"Below stairs." The policeman came closer. "Do you wish to speak with him?"

Instead of complying, the policeman remained where he was, his eyes resting inquiringly on the unobtrusive stranger who had followed Terry into the mansion and paused at his elbow. He drew the tips of his fingers across his clean-shaven mouth and dropped his hand to his side—the motion was lightninglike in its swiftness and Terry barely caught it as he partly turned to face the little man.

"You can see Miss Whitney," the latter stated, "without having to interview her servant."

Terry regarded the little man attentively for a minute before speaking. Slightly under middle size, his suit of gray clothes hanging in misfit fashion on his angular frame, he was a striking contrast to Terry and the latter's well-cut Scottish tweeds. The man's face, thin-lipped, pale, with high cheek bones, presented nothing out of the ordinary, but his dark eyes of peculiar brilliance arrested Terry's attention. Where had he encountered that penetrating gaze before?

"May I ask who you are?" Terry bowed courteously as he put the question. "And—" with a wave of his hand—"why is this policeman here?"

"I am Barlow of the Central Office." The detective turned over the lapel of his coat and displayed his badge. "Miss Whitney will tell you the circumstances necessitating our presence here. She is awaiting you in her uncle's study."

Terry's glance strayed toward the staircase, then swept swiftly back to Barlow, and his foot, lifted imperceptibly to take a step, sank back into its original position.

"The study," he questioned. "Where is it?"

Barlow's thin lips compressed themselves, then separated into a curious grimace. "The study," the detective explained, "is on the second floor, front, Mr. eh, Terry." He held Terry's gaze. "Are you familiar with the architectural arrangements of this house?"

"Moderately so," Terry slipped his hands in his pockets, "with this floor only, however. Will you notify Miss Whitney that I am here?"

His voice, slightly raised, carried in the stillness up the staircase and reached the ears of the young girl standing in the doorway of the study. Before Barlow had time to comply with Terry's request, the sound of light feet running down the uncarpeted stairs, caused both men to turn around. Paying no attention to Barlow she passed him and stopped in front of the younger man.

"Mr. Terry!" she exclaimed, hands outflung, then as she saw him more distinctly, her expression altered to one of utter consternation. "Why, you cannot be—Mr. Terry!"

"Terry, Junior," his smile was very winning. Taking her cold hands in his, he pressed them warmly. "My father is at present enjoying a well deserved rest in Europe with my mother. I have come to serve you in his stead."

"Oh, if you will!" She returned the pressure of his hand with the strength that suggested nerves strung to the breaking point. "Your father was uncle Jim's lawyer and I met him once years ago, so my thoughts turned to him when—when—" she paused to steady her voice, "when I learned Uncle Jim was dead in—in the library."

"And when was that, Miss Whitney?" Barlow, who had edged nearer, put the question with such abruptness that what little color her unexpected meeting with Terry had brought to Harriet's cheeks faded utterly. It was fully a second before she answered.

"Mose discovered the body and broke the news to me—"

"At what hour?" persisted Barlow as she faltered.

"About ten this morning, or a little later." She rested her hand on the back of a chair and stopped to steady her voice once more. "I—I—only got here yesterday afternoon, and slept late this morning. Mose," she glanced directly at the detective for the first time, "telephoned to my uncle's physician and to Police Headquarters. Mose knows everything."

Barlow chuckled softly "Not everything. No, Miss Whitney, not everything; for instance, why have you refused to go to your uncle?"

Her sharp intake of breath was audible to both men. Terry felt a glow of reluctant admiration at the quickness with which she mustered her emotion.

"I could not enter the library alone," she admitted, faintly. "Mose was terrified and his terror communicated itself to me. Now, with you here," she braced herself, and her eyes, with pupils distended, held Terry's fascinated gaze, "I am not afraid to go."

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

"The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1927

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary direction, but the dominant aspects are benefic.

It is well to delay important matters until late in the afternoon when the sway favors big enterprises.

There may be in the morning a tendency toward uncertainty in making decisions or directing commercial activities.

Lack of the impulse toward truthfulness may be apparent in dealings of a business nature this morning.

Women may be inclined toward intrigue and double-dealing in love affairs, if their interest is solicited before the later afternoon.

There should be good luck attending weddings on this date which appears to presage much help from prominent persons.

Women in search of employment should be fortunate while this configuration prevails, although they may meet with extreme standards of efficiency.

New types of beauty are to attain favor in the coming year in which spiritual and intellectual loveliness will be appreciated.

Modesty, reticence and dignity again are to become the fashion, if the stars are read aright, for extreme reactionary influences may be expected.

The evening promises fair success for theatres and those who play in them. There is a good sign, also, for dramatists.

Egotism may be even more apparent than usual in various personalities and it may easily cause criticism and resentment.

Quarrels may be precipitated to-day, which is especially menacing to domestic peace and happiness.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a happy year in which artistic hobbies may prove lucrative.

Children born on this day may excel in loftiness of ambition and sweetness of disposition. Success is indicated.

Toric Mine Reopens With New Crew

Vancouver, Oct. 19.—With a new crew at work in the mill, under Superintendent Shrouder, formerly of the Hollinger mill, Ontario, and with a new foreman employed, the Toric mine's new 100-ton mill is reported to be grinding low-grade ore.

Information as to the Winter plans of the company are not yet available. The operation of the mill throughout the Winter is said to depend on the ability of the company to store a sufficient amount of fuel oil on the property to run the power plant during the season of heavy snow when the Dolly Varden Railway is buried in snow.

"I told my husband about those gowns that are selling for a song."

"What did he say?"

"He said that if I expected him to furnish the notes I'd better change my tune."

"It makes me nervous to see Betty swim out so far; she might take a cramp."

"Oh, she'll get along all right—there's no life guard about."

Fussy Customer—Is that English mutton?

Butcher—Well, as a matter of fact, the sheep was born in New Zealand, but it is of English parents.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Little Squiggy

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Squiggy was his name. And he was a little red spotted Squiggle Bug. Squiggy had a brother who just looked enough like him to be a twin, but he wasn't. And the brother's name was Squoggy.

So that's the beginning of the story. The end doesn't come for quite a while yet.

One day Squiggy and Squoggy were out crawling around in the sunshine showing off their red spots and wondering where they were going to get some honey to eat, when, all of a sudden, Squiggy whispered:

"I smell honey!"

Neither of the red spotted Squiggle Bugs could talk very loud, so they had to buzz and whisper. And as soon as Squoggy heard Squiggy speak about the honey, Squoggy asked:

"Where is it?"

But without answering, so anxious was he to find the honey and give his brother some, that Squiggy flittered his wings and flew away, just like that. One moment he was sunning his red spots on the log besides his brother and the next moment Squiggy was gone.

"Where are you? Which way did you go? Why didn't you wait for me?" called Squoggy. But to all these questions Squiggy did not answer. Then looking around for a sight of his brother and also for the honey, Squoggy was just as fond of the sweet stuff made by the honey bees as was his brother.

It was while Squoggy was flitting around in the air looking for his brother and buzzing over and over again: "Where can he be?" that Uncle Wiggily hopped along.

"For whom are you looking?" asked the rabbit gentleman as Squoggy flew back down on the log again and warmed his red spots in the sun. "Who is lost?"

"My little brother Squiggy," answered the other bug. "Little Squiggy is lost! Oh, dear!"

"Now don't feel so badly about it, my dear Squoggy spoke Uncle Wiggily kindly. "I'll hop around and look for little Squiggy."

"Oh, but he is so small and there are so many places for him to hide or be lost in when he is looking for honey, that you'll never find him, I'm sure!" sighed Squoggy.

"Well, at least I can try!" offered Uncle Wiggily, and soon he was hopping around the woods looking for the little lost bug. Squoggy also searched, crawling up and down trees and bushes and looking into tiny cracks and holes.

At last Uncle Wiggily found himself in the woods quite a long distance from the home crack of Squiggy and

"You'll never find him, I'm sure!" sighed Squoggy.

Squoggy. All the way the rabbit had looked for signs of the little red spotted bug, but had seen none.

Then, all of a sudden, as Mr. Longears saw a hoptoad lady and was going to ask her if she had seen little Squiggy, all at once Uncle Wiggily heard, coming from a hollow tree, a voice which cried:

"What is he doing here? Put him out! If he doesn't go sting him good! That will make him lively! The idea of coming in our hive! And after our honey, too!"

"Ha! At last I think I am on the track of Squiggy!" said Uncle Wiggily to himself. He looked until he saw a hollow tree in and out of which were flying a number of bees and there was also the smell of honey. So Mr. Longears knew he was in the right place.

"Excuse me, bees," said the bunny, politely, "but is the Queen in?"

Uncle Wiggily knew it must have been the Queen Bee speaking about having someone stung and put out.

"Here is our Queen," said one of the Worker bees. They were getting ready to close up hive for the winter, as it was filled with honey.

"Did you want to see me, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the Queen, who was a long, slender bee.

"I did, your majesty," answered the rabbit, "I am looking for a little lost Squiggle Bug named Squiggy. He flew away to find some honey and——"

"Ha! Here he is!" buzzed the Queen Bee. "A little while ago he flew into our tree hive crying for honey. We did not know he was a friend of yours or we would have given him some. Bring out Squiggy!" called the Queen Bee. "He is a friend of Uncle Wiggily. Don't sting him as I first ordered. Bring him out!"

"May it please your majesty, we can't!" said a big Drone bee. "We can't bring Squiggy out of the hive!" and the Drone whispered something to the Queen which made her laugh. And what the Drone said and what happened to Squiggy shall be told tomorrow night if the bread knife will cut the apple pie a piece of cheese to slide down hill on.

America, too, has her traffic problems, and one of the solutions adopted is "one-way streets," in which only traffic going in one direction is allowed. In one town, the story goes, a policeman stopped a girl who was driving a car. "Madam," he said, "you are breaking the law. This is a one-way street." The girl commenced to cry. "Well," she said, "I was only going one way, wasn't I?"

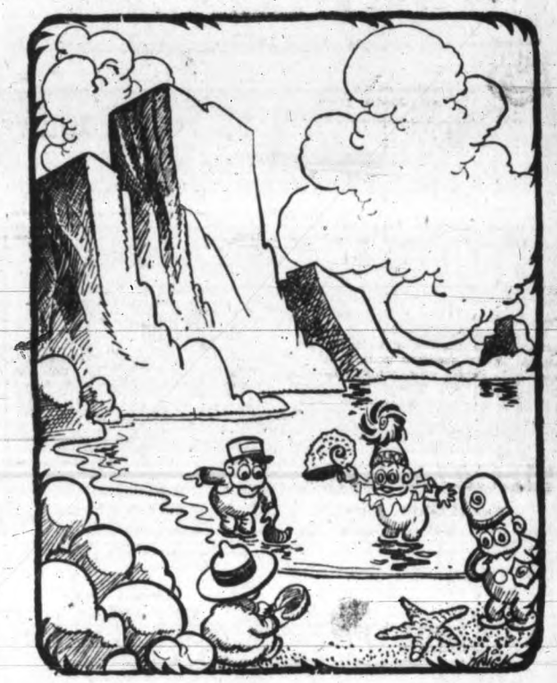
THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by KNICK



(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies, all up in the tree, made quite a funny sight to see. The plane that dropped their kite off there was now far out of sight. Wee Coppy eyed the kite and said, "It's wrecked. We'll have to walk instead of flying, after this, I guess. But, that will be all right."

"Sure, what do we care?" Scouty cried. "That's all we've done—is ride and ride. Let's all go down upon the ground and see just where we are. There must be people living here. I hardly think there's cause for fear. Out through the leaves I see a beach, and dandy long sandbar."

They all agreed this should be done, but then they noticed that the sun was turning golden yellow, and was dropping out of sight. "'Twill soon be dark down on the ground," said Clowny. "Nothing can be found in darkness. We had better all sleep right up here to-night."

And so they crawled up near the tree, on limbs as wide as they could be, and made themselves real comfortable; then went to slumberland. All through the night they slept real sound and in the early morn they found the sun had risen high again. Said one, "Oh, this is grand."

Down from the tree they scampered quick, and found some fruit that they could pick. They had a dandy breakfast and they all felt very good. Said Carpy, "Gee, I never tire of this fine life. Let's build a fire. But, first of all, let's all wash up. I really think we should."

They scampered to the stream nearby and rolled their stockings up real high. Then, in they went, a happy lot, to play and wade around. "Oh, look!" cried Scouty, "at this shell. And, here's another. These are swell." And, as the Tinies searched and searched, some wondrous things were found.

Acid in Stomach Ruins Appetite

Thin, pale people—the despondent sort who never have an appetite, and complain of headaches, indigestion, dizziness, billiousness, usually have too much acid in their stomach. And unless they displace it, any food they eat turns into sour bile and foul gases, which poison their system.

Pape's Diapepsin dissolves that poisonous acid, sweetens the stomach and digests your meals. Many thousands of people have brought back the appetite of their youth and gained weight simply by chewing one of the pleasant tablets of Pape's Diapepsin after meals.

EX-NOTARY PUBLIC MEN IN SESSION

Discuss Workings of Amendment to Act and Situation Existing

Ex-notaries public, who find themselves left off the list of new notaries under the amendments to the act governing the office, are meeting this afternoon in the office of H. T. Barnes, Rithet Consolidated Limited, Wharf Street. Under the provisions of the amendment, all those who wished to apply for enrollment as notaries public were required to undergo examination, and it is subjects of this nature which are under discussion this afternoon.

Provision was also made that existing notaries might have their names retained on the list if they made application within six months of the passing of the amendment. This application many failed to make.

Certoin new rules have been promulgated governing the examination of candidates.

Shirley

Shirley, Oct. 20.—Ten members were present when the Shirley Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse. Mrs. Norval Milligan was voted to take the chair owing to the unavoidable absence of the president.

Correspondence relating to the forthcoming potato and seed show was read by the secretary, Mrs. D. C. Milligan.

A box of jam was forwarded to the Solarium at Mill Bay, and a second box is being filled to be forwarded later on, the members contributing generously to the "shower," aided by their city friends in a few instances.

A card party and social was arranged to take place shortly, and the proceeds will also be sent to the Solarium. It was decided some time ago to give a contribution towards providing a well for the school children, card parties being given to raise the necessary funds. The proceeds of these will be handed over to the trustees, who are arranging to have the well dug as soon as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cave have been spending a couple of weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson at Malahat Farm.

E. H. Clark has been visiting his sister, Miss Christine Clark, in Vancouver, and is at present at Cowichan Lake.

T. Robertson has returned to Duncan after spending the Summer here.

Mrs. W. H. Anderson has left on a motor trip to Comox with her daughter, Mrs. P. E. Clark, to visit her youngest daughter, Mrs. W. Edwards, for a few days.

W. Scafe, who spent some time here, has returned to his home at Lasqueti.

The annual meeting of the Shirley Liberal Association will be held next Saturday evening, October 22, when a full attendance is requested for the election of officers.

DR. HILTZ SPEAKS ON SUNDAY SCHOOL

Toronto Clergyman Addressed Meeting at Memorial Hall

"The average Sunday school is only from twenty-five to fifty per cent efficient," said Dr. R. A. Hiltz of Toronto in speaking at the Christ Church Memoral Hall last evening. Dr. Hiltz asserted that the church had always been a teaching institution, but that in the future more attention should be given to the training of teachers and leaders for religious educational work. The speaker stated during the course of his address that sixty-five or seventy per cent of Sunday school efficiency rested with the teacher. Home teaching and environments also was important. Religious education that is confined to the short periods of Sunday school was not sufficient. Dr. Hiltz stressed this point and said that a serious tendency in these modern times was the failure of parents to teach their children anything pertaining to religious instruction in the home. After all, the school is but an extension of the home, and if this instruction is not started and kept up there, it cannot be very well continued at Sunday school. "We believe there is a Christ-like way of doing everything," concluded Dr. Hiltz, "and it is the aim of religious education to make it habitual for every boy and girl to do things in the Christ-like way." To give children and young people correct thoughts and ideas concerning God, and to train them in appreciation of His greatness was, and should be, the purpose of Sunday school work, he concluded.

The meeting was attended by delegates from a number of the Anglican parishes in the city and district. Open discussion followed and refreshments were served by the teachers of the cathedral primary school. Rev. H. T. Archbold presided.

STUDENT DISCIPLINE

Toronto, Oct. 20.—A resolution has been drawn up by the student body of McMaster University recommending to their student council that James McGinley be expelled from the university for having "openly slandered the faculty and students of McMaster and for repeatedly identifying himself with an organization decidedly antagonistic to McMaster." The resolution will be considered when it is presented to the students' council.
